dedication

is the mark of a true teacher: the production of those changes we call education by example.

"This is the kind of teacher Rocky Dake is. Naturally, he will tell you how you ought to do something if you are so stupid that you can't distinguish the gas jet from the water faucet. Of course, he is persuasive when he invokes the inexorably reasoned logic of a chemical formula. But most of all he leaves an indelible impression by the way he lives.

"Devoted to life and living things, his life has been a constant effort to instill this devotion in others. If you don't believe this, just watch how he reacts to his garden. The loving care he displays towards his carrots cannot help but inspire a reverence for life. Watch how he works with a promising swimmer. Each boy unique and with his own particular contribution to the team; each to be valued for this unique contribution. Watch how he performs in the classroom. Not forcing, not persuading, but convincing by his very love of the material and his concern for getting it across to his students. He is a teacher who produces the change we call education by the example of his life."

"No one in our memory can better this fine man's record, looking back over his forty years at Phillips. This tenure alone sets him quite apart. Even this is overshadowed, however, as we recall his creations in the fields of teaching, coaching, administration, not to mention his skill as a story teller. Most vivid of all, has been his capacity to epitomize everything good that is embodied in the term, a "Gentleman."

"In sorrow we salute you, Rocky, as you take your leave. Yet our burden is less, indeed is tolerable, in just one thing: you are only going one-half mile from here."

ROSCOE DAKE

By one of his former students, Mr. Dake has been described as a teacher whose tools are not only found in the laboratory, but whose most powerful teaching device is the example he sets by his own life. This man writes that "A great deal of our life we spend trying to convince people to change their ways. We want them to study harder, vote for our candidate, quit fussing, or grow up. Some changes are trivial, some central. The goal of education is change and, I would submit, is one of the central changes of life. The changes wrought by education remain with a man 'til the end."

One way of change is by persuasion. "This can be open and direct," he writes, "yet without offense of imposition. Or it can be subtle and covert. The latter seems to be currently in vogue with propaganda, subliminal perception, and all vying as the most efficacious. There is nothing improper about the former; a well-reasoned, persuasive argument has swayed many a vacillating soul.

"Yet another way is by example. To me, this is the most impressive. Nothing is so convincing as a man acting on his beliefs. And, I believe, this

BEN FARRINGTON

The first official notice of Brendan Farrington's retirement was given at the Faculty-Senior dinner just before the end of school. The shock and surprise which spread throughout the room would be hard to describe. Mr. Kemper expressed regret in behalf of the school as he told of Mr. Farrington's decision to become an administrator in the Peace Corps.

In six short years at Phillips Academy, Ben Farrington compiled a truly outstanding record of service and devotion to Andover, students, faculty and alumni alike. As his draft into the Peace Corps suggests, Mr. Farrington was well known in the East as an exceptional administrator. Whether it was a Trustees or Alumni Council meeting, Parents' Weekend, Commencement or Alumni Weekend, somewhere behind an endless pile of details and complications could be found Mr. Farrington, solving the impossible time and time again. The smoothness with which these events ran is a tribute to his ability.

As if his work as Alumni Secretary and Director of Public Relations was not enough, Mr. Farrington was also faculty advisor to many extracurricular groups, and a sincere friend to a great number of students.

The Class of 1961 along with the rest of the student body, faculty, and alumni would like to express their sincere appreciation to Mr. Farrington for a job well done and to wish him the best of luck in the future.

In the ensuing pages you will see what we believe to be an accurate account of the high points and low points of the school year: The memorable athletic events, weekends, plays, and activities of the school in general. We have attempted to recapture and retain the spirit of the school year 1960-61.

They were the best of times and the worst of times. And long after our diplomas have been pressed between glass and cardboard, we will remember our years here as only the best of times. But before we become too sentimental about chicken frickasee and Mark Conneley's "Green Pastures", we must record our thoughts about Andover and her class of 1961.

The faculty and administration have already picked out some of the strong elements in our class: the malcontents, the ingrates, the malingerers, the intellectuals, the fine athletes, the constructive dissenters, those with a sense of integrity, and the immature. They were all there. But no label could be entirely complete or accurate. The safest thing one could say about our class is that it succeeded in reducing the size of the mystery mounds.

Two major factors, however, did influence our class: the intensity of competition for college admission and the urgency of man's mess.

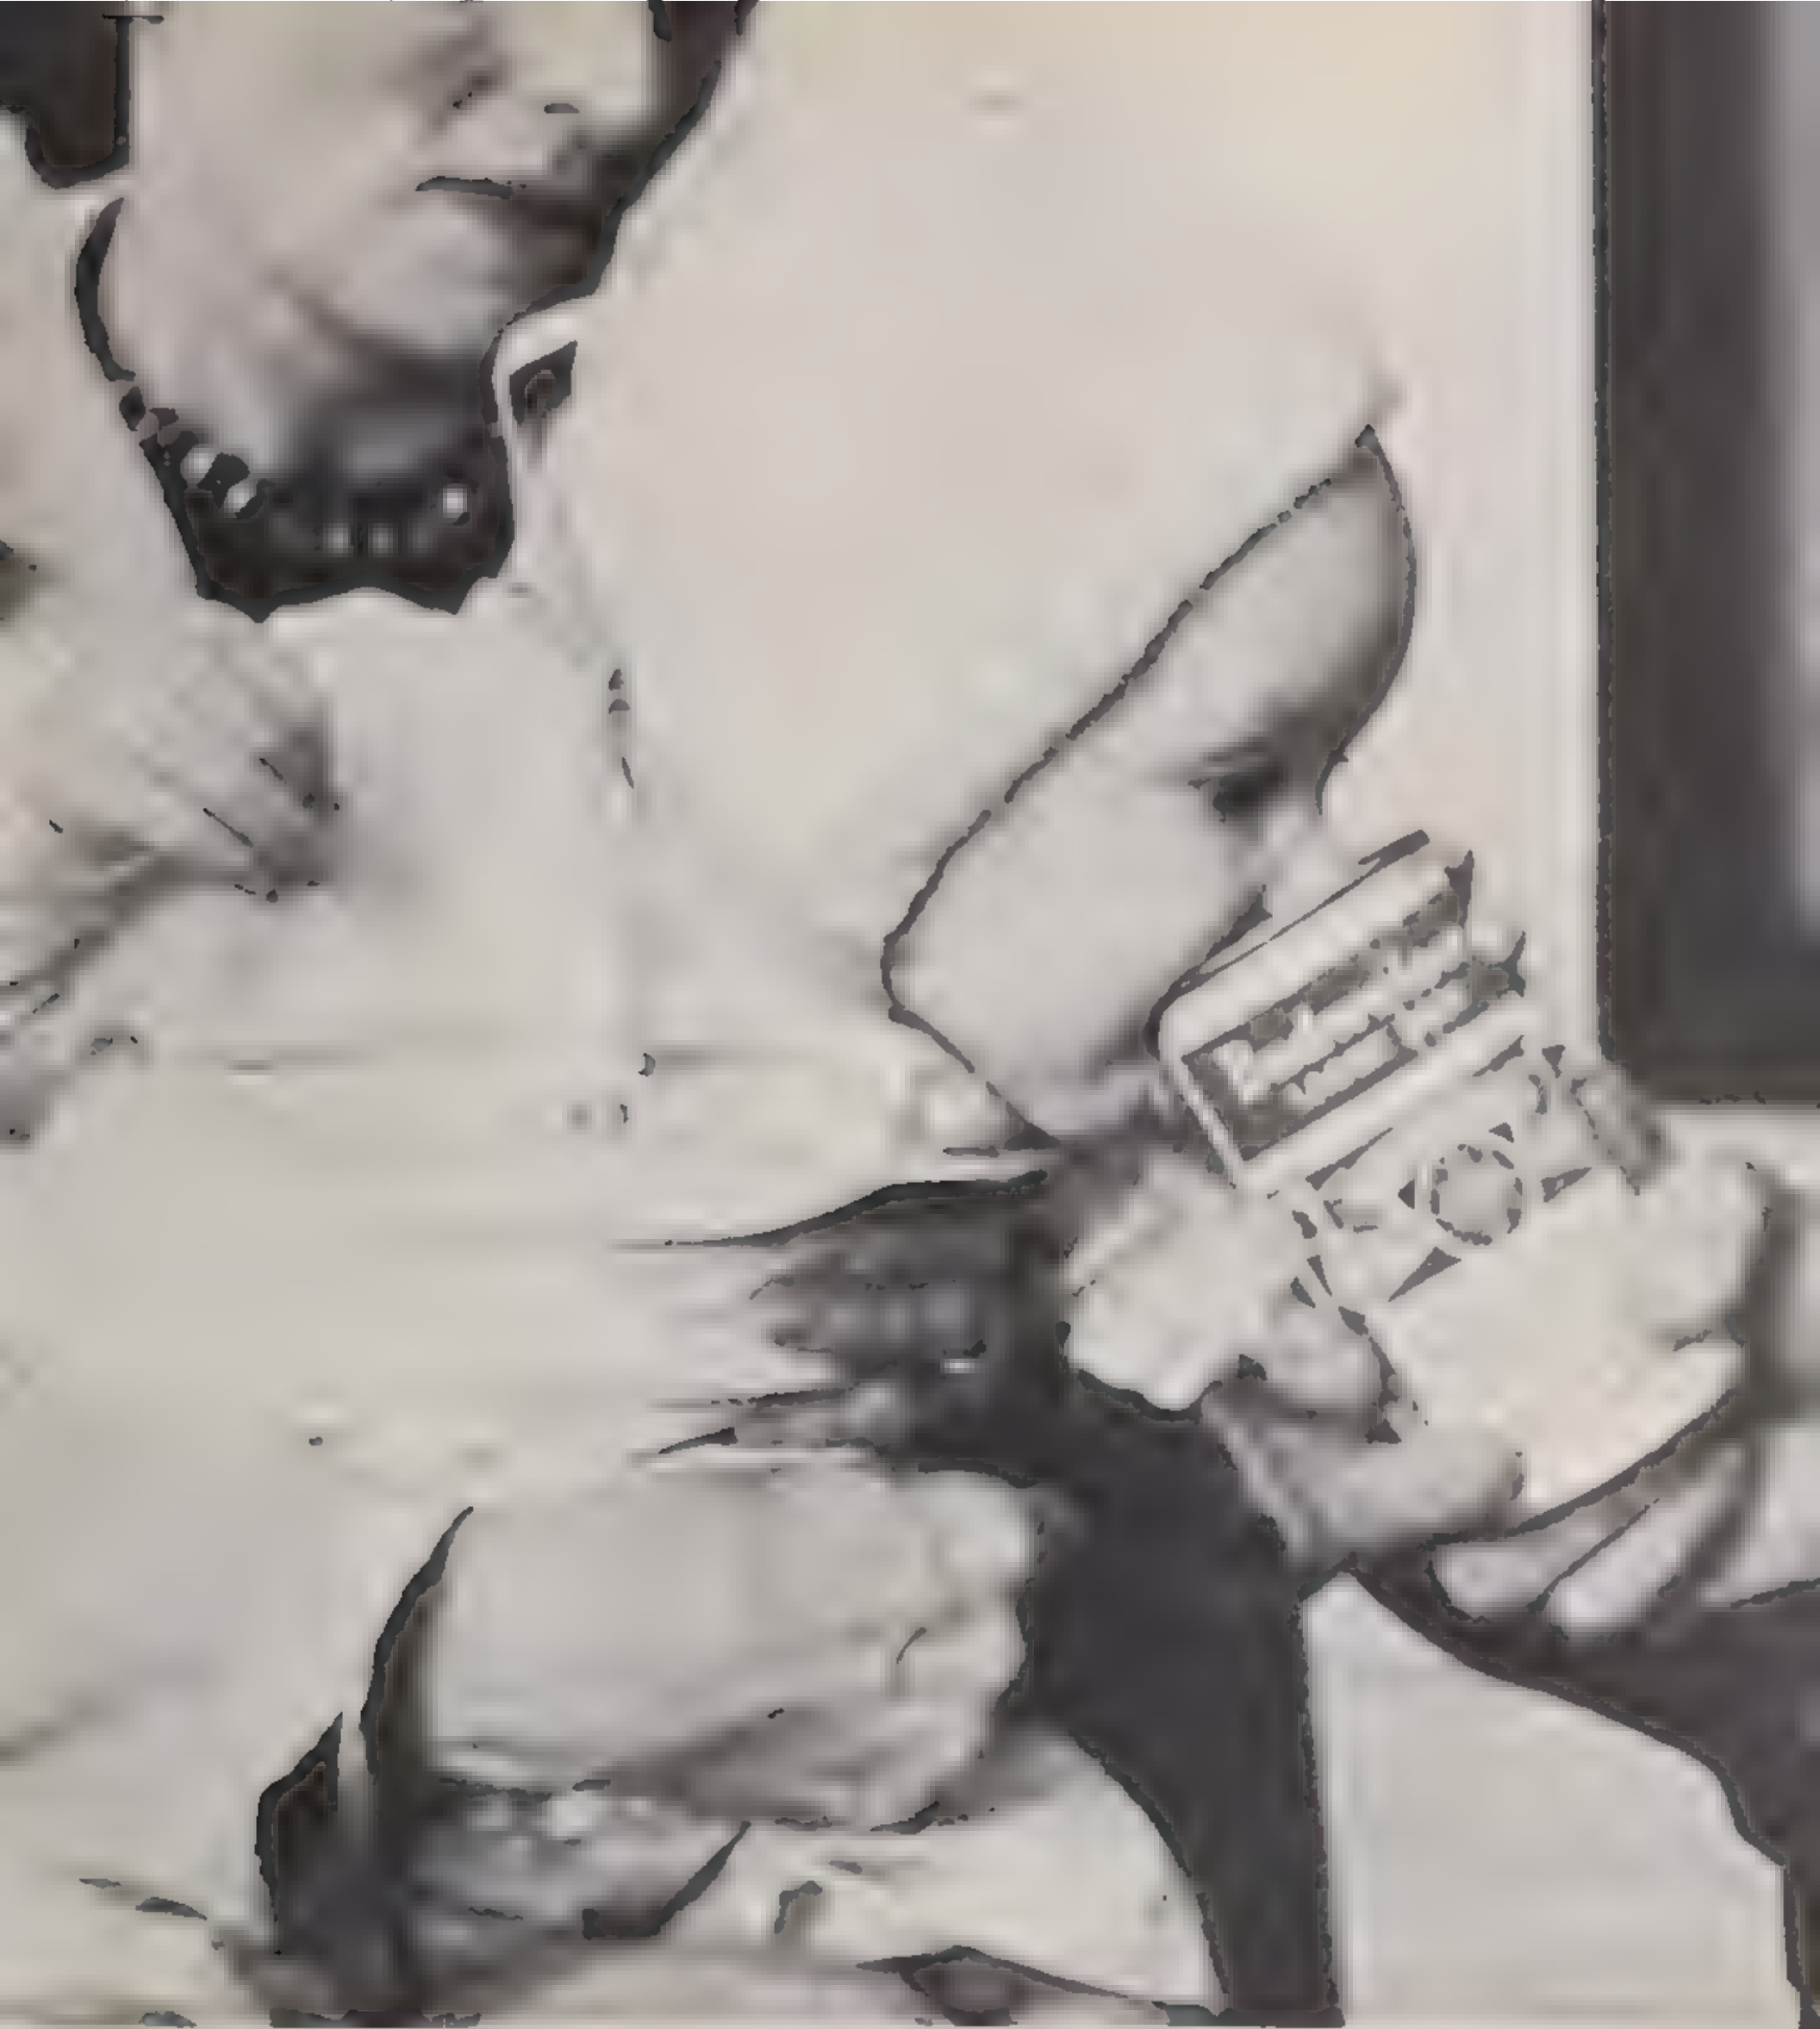

The pressures of the college scramble produced a class with little spirit and a great deal of individual drive. Everyone went about his immediate job of gaining admission to college. There was little interest in cliques; even the atmosphere in Commons was so genial that a flit could eat with a jock. It wasn't until after admission certificates were in that the class let down.

But college was only the immediate goal. Many, taking Colonel Stimson's words personally, felt that it was in their hands now. There was an air of excitement and expertness in the way they did their jobs, whether it was starting a new organization or performing for the school.

Most of the class thrived in the free, regulated, honest, frustrating atmosphere at Andover. We were free because we had the equipment and guidance necessary for us to follow our interests as far as they would lead. We were free to disagree and make mistakes. We were regulated constantly and this was part of the freedom because we had little responsibility for looking after ourselves and for planning our time. We were honest to the point of cynicism. In the classroom, we were encouraged to delve beyond the superficial, to seek the "hidden meaning." We were encouraged to discard the bad and find the good, with emphasis on the discarding. We were encouraged to take things apart and put them back together. We were frustrated by the rules, the work, the appointments, the food, and the pressures; yet, we survived them and they toughened us. And one of the reasons we survived was that our teachers were dedicated men interested in our survival.

All this is over. We have a piece of paper which says it is. But we cannot escape the fact that we are different because we came to Andover and Andover is different because she accepted us. We have an obligation because of this fact, an obligation which goes far beyond beating a drum for Andover or contributing to the Alumni Fund. We must carry the attitudes we picked up at Andover into every community we join and we must protect the academic community which upholds these attitudes. We can never be satisfied with corruption, pat answers, hypocrisy, opportunism, one-sided arguments, lazy principles, or half truths. We can never be satisfied because for a few years we at least tried to be honest with ourselves.

The transition this year has not been easy. The gulf that yawns between the Lower and Upper years is the widest and most difficult we have had or will ever have to cross in our four years at Andover. Where as Juniors and Lovers most of us contentedly got our work done, naive and oblivious of any real tension, this year all were made acutely aware of the ever more furious race for college admittance by the terrific pressure exerted on each of us. The major colleges' decision to follow Yale in demanding applications completed by the first of the year made the role that the Upper year plays in our college entrance of paramount importance, even greater than our senior year. As we come closer to the college level, we all notice changes in our curricular routine. The term paper, the long-range project, and the big exam have more and more replaced the short-range assignment and the daily quizz. Those five hour ordeals in the new gym are now for keeps instead of practice. Some seventy-five of us endured the seemingly endless three hours of one or more APs. The work has certainly been there and so has the tension, but however much there has been to do, and no matter how much has been riding on any single project, we've taken it as it came, and handled it all much better than we thought we could. In each of the Fall and Winter terms, the Uppers returned most on both the First and Second Honor Rolls. We scored well on crucial SATs as well as on the National Merits. The class of 1962 has an academic record that will remain among the best.

But our successes were not limited to the classroom alone. On the field, on the ice, and on the mat, the Uppers distinguished themselves as the best class athletically the Hill has seen in many years. Our large number of remarkable athletes, along with our overall ability and balanced depth, plus our spirit and actual game experience assures Andover of a fine season in every sport and another year at the top of the prep school rivalry.

Yet Andover men are not all scholars or athletes. Our leaders are not only from the classroom and from the field, but the extra-curriculum responsibilities of the school. This is a hallmark of the Upper year, where the Seniors relinquish the reins of leadership to the well-versed, yet sometimes over-eager and blundering Uppers who need a little time to accustom themselves to making the decisions of their new positions of importance. We have taken on the mantle of responsibility as gracefully as we could. We went off on our own forming a new discussion group as well as participating in the two debating societies. Both the Winter Shakespeare and the Spring musical had Uppers as leads. Certainly we never lost sight of the great importance of the extra-curricular activities as a phase of P.A. life.

As we come closer to the time of graduation and college, more often we find ourselves asking what was Andover to do for us in the first place anyway? Most concisely, we decide, as trite as it may sound, that it was to prepare us academically, physically, and morally not only for college, but for all our adult lives. And looking at our scholastic work, our athletics, and our extra-curricular responsibilities, the P.A. class of 1962 can say, "We'll be ready."

I O W E R S

Instead of starting off with the usual Pot Pourri phrase, "We are lowers now, second year men . . .". I will commence by saying that at the end of this year the juvenile stage of our Andover life was finished. The days of the happy hack and the soft work were over for good when June arrived. Admittedly next year we can look forward to being Uppers, corrupted by cigarettes, radios, and late lights; but we must also face new responsibilities and new academic challenges. And although the end of this year finished an era in our school life, the beginning of this year marked the start of a stage of almost equal importance, for now we were the casual P.A. veterans who could look down our noses at one of the exceptionally small and rosy-cheeked preps among the new crop of Juniors who asked us what the Commons was for.

We had a new outlook on the now routine Fall Term, which this year suggests two or three outstanding occurrences. First, I recall the climatic Exeter football game in which we came back to tie eighteen-eighteen, after succumbing to three fast touchdowns at the start of the game. Dan Hootstein, who scored during that hard-fought comeback, played on the varsity with Joe McGirt, Dale Stevens, Rog Ferrar, Frank Hekimian, John Faggi, and last but not least, Pete Schulz (who served only because of the pressure of Public Opinion on line coach Meanv). Another memorable occurrence was one of Andover's few undefeated soccer teams. The highlight of that season, to which Henry Hooker and "Smurd" Smoyer contributed, was long sought after a 2-1 victory over Yale and a tie with Galloping O'hiri's Harvard freshmen. A third common happening which impressed itself on my mind was the rain, which periodically drenched the campus on Wednesdays and Saturdays and extended into the snow season so that when it finally snowed during Exam Week, it had quite a deficit to make up. But finally, after a fourteen week struggle, this unusual term was over, and we went home to gird ourselves for the weary Winter Term ahead.

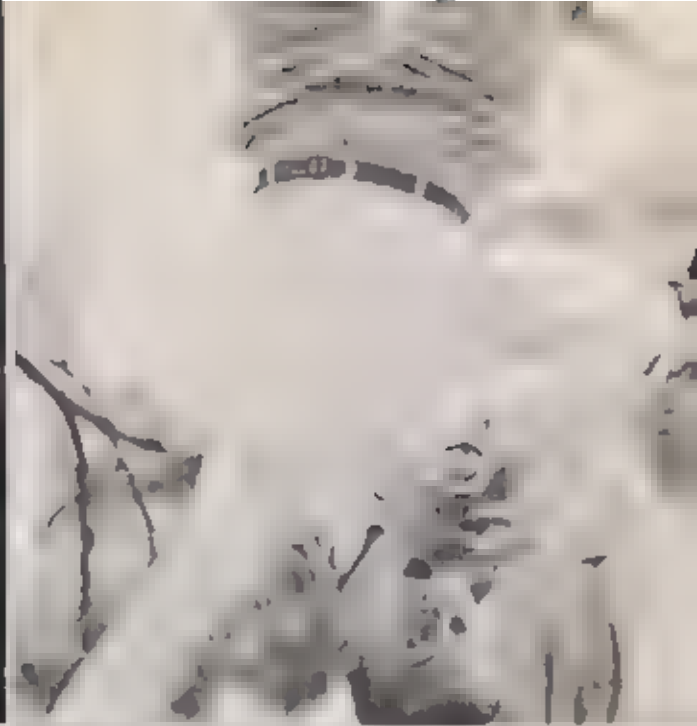

Lower Officers

Sitting: Matt Hall, President; Jerry Liles, Vice President.
Standing: Tim Bingham, Treasurer; John Faggi, Secretary.

The Winter Term was as dreary as could be hoped for, except for a few fleeting bright spots. The hockey team, with "Boom Boom" Morrison's Minnesota play equal in brilliance to that of captain Bucky Sides, and with "Snooky" Smoyer's P.C.D. conservatism close behind, supplied the thrills on Wednesdays and Saturdays, beating traditional rivals Deerfield, St. Paul's, and Exeter, and losing only a squeaker to B.U., 4-3. Stu Davis was also leading a good crew of Lower swimmers which assures us of another win over the Exies in our senior year. But what amazed us most about the Winter term was the head of steam we built up scholastically as we discovered later that Stacy Langdon and John Foster made the Honor Roll, which contained one out of five boys in the class.

We came back for a Spring Term which looked and felt like early March right up until Prom Weekend, well into May. We had another Andover first in our student run class dance, which we hope turns into another happy P.A. tradition. Again Rog Ferrar made another varsity sport, lacrosse, along with Jerry Liles, Dale Stevens, Dan Hootstein, who each made their second varsity sport, baseball.

The term ended with an unexpected flourish of good weather, and we all headed home, tired but relieved, to practice smoking and staying up late. Instead of closing with the usual bit of starry optimism about the intellect, athletic ability, leadership, and charm of our class, I will simply say we are a class with much potential and the links of life at P.A. look hopeful.

Little Innocence with his jacket buttoned and his tie clasp fastened arrived in September amid smiles of welcome from the Senior Class. Soon the jacket was unbuttoned and the tie clasp slipped into the pocket in hopes that the owner might be mistaken for a Lower and then avoid the age-old burden of the prep. But sage as he might seem, the Junior was not yet wise in the ways of the Andover world. He bought laundry contracts, the Boston Herald, useless textbooks, and signed up for dancing class.

Before long though, the class of '64 was making its bid for recognition. Philo and Pnyx filled with Juniors; more and more Phillipian stories were written by Juniors; four good class officers were elected. Woody Baston towered over most of his Varsity football teammates, Wilson stabbed Eastland, and Will Hall debated against the other dorm. The other dorm won, stressing the "Don't sweat it" attitude of Will Hall.

Our first blizzard and our first exams hit us at the same time with quite an impact which had barely worn off before we were at it again in the Winter term. The Semples were at it again, too, with their Acropolis. Now, naughty Will Hall boys were out in hordes shovelling the endless snow while the boys of Rockwell were holed up nice and warm, working hard to get on the honor roll. Kennedy squeezed into the Presidency, but not before P.A. Republicans had had their say in G.W. The snow began to melt a little and the Junior-Lower snowball fights became fierce, but snowball fights did not seem to be our strong point.

Mark Foster took Will Hall by storm, firing the boys with a rebellious rage. Mr. Myers tried in vain to keep boys in their rooms on "Mr. Myers' Night." Meanwhile, Rockwell had a high time when Mr. McBee went to "Richard II". Then in a burst of glory, Tonken won the Carr Prize, Booth became a director of the Outing Club, and Smith broke the five minute mile.

Another blizzard ushered out the winter term; and spring fever, shortlived resolutions, and squirt-gun fights greeted the Spring Term. Proctors confiscated the squirt guns, and then came charging down the halls with them shooting everybody in range. Memories of Pilgrim's Progress, athletics, and repeated drownings in Junior Phys. Ed. blurred together as Winter changed into Summer, skipping Spring weather entirely. Junior athletics did very well despite the number of boys on posting. Mel Weinberger took a Varsity Gold Letter while Jeff Huvelle set the Junior 440 track record. The records of the "Invictas" and the "8'n1" echoed through the halls for a couple of weeks, and then came "Guys and Dolls", a great success sporting a number of Juniors in the off stage chorus. Prom Weekend gave Rockwell boys a chance to mess up Will Hall. Although many boys were disappointed at being unable to attend the Prom, most were relieved when a dance scheduled for the next Saturday with Beaver and Dana Hall was cancelled because of a measles epidemic.

It would be difficult to sum up the class of '64, for it ranged not only from Alexander to Zachwieja, but also from Rounds to Baston. We have been fighting to keep our identity and not to become P.A. conformists; but let anyone carry his personal inclination so far as to button his jacket, and he is no longer an individualist, but an oddball untouchable.

Led by captain and center, Toby Hay, the Blue football team improved greatly over the season to achieve a well earned 4-2-2 record. Although having only four returning lettermen, the Blue still turned out a well balanced, powerful, football team.

Landon Carter, By Bishop, and Bernie Boone all played at end, with Boone receiving All-Prep recognition; Pete Watson, Hugh Carson, and Bruce Gilbert performed well at tackle, while Bob Chft and Tony Vanderwalker worked well at guard. Tone Grant played well at quarterback and received defensive aid from Mike Moonves. Pete Richardson, Bob Lux, and Jorge Gonzales, by hard work and determination, became the starting halfbacks. At fullback, Bill Mosenthal and Dave Murphy alternated, and both did a tremendous job in carrying out their assignments. Ron Floto, as a line-backer, did a fine job on defense during the season.

Northeastern Trips Blue 26-8

The Blue Wave lost the first game of the season in a game marred by injuries, fumbles, and bad luck. Tone Grant starred for the Blue at quarterback with slick passing, especially on the options.

Northeastern drew first blood scoring on a fifty yard pass play from Evans to Flowers, but the Blue Team soon retaliated in the second quarter when, after a succession of short aeriels, Grant flipped a fifteen yard t.d. pass to Bernie Boone, and then again to Boone for the extra points. The Reds of Northeastern scored once more before the end of the first half to lead 12-8. Weakened by the loss of guard Pete Watson and fullback Bill Mosenthal, the A-men were dominated in the second half as Northeastern scored twice. The first was another Evans to Flowers pass of twenty-five yards, set up by a Blue fumble while a pass interception by the Red set up their fourth and final touchdown of the day.

P.A. Tripped by Larries in 14-8 Loss

In a renewal of a prep school rivalry dated back to 1894, the Blue lost their second of the season to Lawrenceville. After Frank Bunch scored for Lawrenceville in the opening minutes, the game became a defensive battle. In the third period, the Blue scored after having stalled first half scoring bids numerous times. Tone Grant scored both the six-pointer and the conversion to give P.A. the lead. The Larries soon retaliated with Frank Bunch scoring both the touchdown and the extra points. After a P.A. drive was stopped at the ten, the game ended with Lawrenceville in possession of the ball.

P.A. Takes First Game 20-15.

Defeat Williams Frosh

Helped by an improved passing and ground attack, the Blue moved to the Williams one, by Grant passes to Boone and Richardson. From there, Grant went over for the score. However, after a series of ground plays, Williams scored both the touchdown and the extra point for a half-time edge, 7-6. The Blue scored on a third period drive with Mosenthal, Richardson, and Murphy picking up the yardage. Then, a fifty yard Grant to Chickering pass set up a Grant to Carter scoring pass, the final Blue touchdown. Grant scored the extra point. Although Williams scored a touchdown and the extra point on pass plays in the last minutes, they were held off by the P.A. defense for the rest of the game.

Andovers Overwhelm Mt. Hermon 32-8

Defense Fails Hermies

In winning their second game of the season, P.A. completely dominated Mt. Hermon, scoring twice in the first quarter, and once in the second and fourth. Then Grant raced fifty yards down the sidelines on the second play of the game for a T.D. and then threw a pass to Lanny Carter for the extra point. A Pete Richardson run later set up Bill Chickering's six yard touchdown jaunt. In the second period, another Grant to Carter pass accounted for a touchdown. After a third period of little offensive play, an interception by P.A.'s

George Andrews 'set up George Gonzales' four brilliant consecutive runs, the last a scoring run.

Deerfield Falls 26-12

Grant, Richardson Star as Blue Romps over Deerfield 26-12 in a Superb Effort

In taking its third win of the season, the team showed a marked improvement in finesse and power. After having one sustained drive stopped in the first quarter, the Blue began another drive with Pete Richardson bombing over for a T.D. early in the second quarter. A Grant to Boone pass added the extra points. Minutes later, after a fifty yard Grant to Boone pass, Bob Lux climaxed the tremendous second period with a touchdown.

After a rough third period, P.A.'s lead was cut to two points because of Deerfield's Roberts fine play at quarterback. However, Andover started to roll once more, and after many fine runs by Richardson and Gonzales, Grant scored from the six. After a "Beamer" Moonves interception, the Blues scored the final T.D. of the day, with Gonzales scoring from the six.

P.A. Ties Exies 18-18 in Second Half Rally

Exeter tallied first when, after a series of passes from Bilodeau to Overton and McNulty had brought Exeter within scoring distance, Bilodeau threw a T.D. pass to Overton. After recovering a Blue fumble, the Red again started a drive which ended with Gary Wilson carrying the ball over from the three. Although the Blue started a drive with Richardson and Murphy making good gains, the Blue again fumbled, this facilitating an Exeter score on a pass from Bilodeau to Mahoney a few plays later. As the half ended, Tone Grant threw a beautiful 62 yard scoring pass to Dan Hootstein. All tries for extra points failed in the first half.

The Blue defense held in the second half, as P.A. closed the gap with Pete Richardson scoring from the three. The final P.A. touchdown was scored when Bernie Boone slipped by the Red safety man and went all the way with a pass from Grant. The attempt for the extra point failed because of a bad pass from center. With neither team able to pose any further threat, the game ended in an 18-18 deadlock.

Rated as one of the best soccer teams in recent years, this year's soccer team successfully lived up to expectations. With eleven returning lettermen on the starting lineup, the Blue team had an undefeated season for the first time in nine years. Great credit goes to Coach DiClemente, who did an excellent job bringing out the full potential of his squad.

The Dekemen were an exceptionally well-rounded and athletic team. As "Deke" said, any one of the starting eleven were capable of playing well almost every position of the game. But the outstanding quality of the team was their never ceasing drive. Many games were clinched in the last period after their opponents had been nearly run into the ground.

In their Wednesday opener against Belmont Hill, the Blue started slowly but picked up with four goals in the second half to win easily 5-0. So one-sided was the game that P.A. goalie, Denny Gallaudet, made only a few saves during the entire course of the game.

That Saturday, however, the first real test of the team's skill came when they journeyed to New Haven to try to break Yale's nine year hex on them. Keyed up by "Deke's" quiet pep talks, the team, fighting hard all the way, whipped a favored Yale team 2-1. In a game whose outcome remained in doubt for some time, the Blue defense, sparked by fullbacks, Bill Torbert and Joby Stevens, stolidly withheld the Yalies, while goals by Torbert, on a penalty kick in the first period, and by Frank MacMurray in the last period cinched the game. In the last minute of the game, a Yale anti-climatically scored on a breakway.

The next week the team was surprised by an inspired Government Dummer team, and was forced into two overtimes before "Beaver" Gibson made the score 2-1 for the Blue. Early in the first period, Tom Brayton gave the Blue a 1-0 cushion, but the Dummer team tied it up in the third period. Although playing rather sluggishly in the regular game, the Blue finally perked up during the exciting overtimes.

Gallaudet had his second and third shutouts the next two games as P.A. beat Tufts 6-0 and M.I.T. 5-0. Playing in a relaxed manner, too much so to please "Deke", the Blue team trampled weak Tufts. However, P.A. had to work to beat a fairly good M.I.T. Blue left wing, "Admiral" Perry had a field day, almost coming up with a hat trick, but having to settle for two goals.

On October 15, for the first time this year, P.A. let the opposing team draw first blood. Nevertheless, the Dekemen came from behind to defeat a faster Dartmouth Frosh 4-2. Although the Green took as many goal shots as the Blue, the accuracy of the P.A. forward line and the excellent goal tending of Gallaudet accounted for the Blue victory. Tom Brayton and "Beaver" Gibson, who were tied for high-scoring honors at the season's end, hit two goals apiece.

Captain and Coach

That Wednesday in a game which even "Deke" spoke of in superlative terms, P.A. dramatically came from behind late in the fourth period to tie Harvard Freshmen 2-2. "Curly" Peterson, P.A.'s center halfback, and Denny Gallaudet played outstanding games in limiting Harvard's flashy center forward, O'Hiri, a Nigerian Olympian, to only one goal.

At first seeming to be slightly awed by Harvard, the team found itself on the short end of the 2-0 score throughout most of the game. Then, P.A.'s Kieth Chiappa punched in a penalty kick. The stands went wild and so did the team. Playing really great soccer, the inspired Dekemen completely controlled the play after this score. Four minutes later, left wing Frank MacMurray blasted in a pass from Hackett to tie it up. A minute later a third goal by Gibson sent the crowd beserk, but it was called back for P.A. offsides. An overtime period proved to be fruitless, however, for both sides.

Anything being anticlimatic after that game, P.A. casually swept Belmont Hill 6-0 and Exeter to end the season. Although playing only erratically well at Exeter, the Blue easily tromped the Exies 3-1. A lashing kick by Gibson and heads by Budge Upton and Tom Brayton comprised the Blue's scoring. Unfortunately an Exie's body deflection in the last period spoiled a shutout for Gallaudet. Then the best Andover soccer season for a long, long time ended in a cloud of cigar smoke on the bus back to P.A.

The 1960 Andover Cross Country Team, coached by Mr. John Kimball, finished the season as undisputed champions of the New England Prep Schools by winning the Interscholastics at the Choate School. In leading up to their victory at Choate, the team compiled six won and one lost record of regular season meets, the lone loss being at the hands of a strong Harvard Freshman Team.

The first victory for the Blue was a relatively easy one over the MIT Freshmen. The next two meets were with perennial rivals, Central Catholic and Deerfield. After its victory over Deerfield, the team travelled to Franklin Park in Boston where it lost its only meet of the season. Huntington, the school that finished second to Andover at the Interscholastics, provided the opposition for the dual meet victory. The last meet of the regular season was a shutout of the Tufts Freshmen on their home course. This win gave the Blue the confidence it needed to carry itself to a victory at Choate.

The win at Choate marked the first time in the eighteen year history of the meet that an Andover team has won the Interscholastics. In winning the meet, Andover succeeded in beating Exeter to overcome the taste of defeat from last year.

On Wednesday, November 9th, the JV Cross Country Team travelled to Exeter to win the traditional JV meet by a score of 23 to 35. In doing so, it established the fact that the Blue would still be a threat again next year for the prep school crown

hockey

Under the direction of coaches Harrison and Pyncheon, the varsity hockey team enjoyed its finest season in twenty years by compiling a 14-1-1 record. Captain Bucky Sides and lower preps Jack Morrison and Bill Smoyer sparked on offense, amassing 58 goals in sixteen games. The strong defense of Jobe Stevens and Charlie Stuart gave goalie Dex Newton the support he needed to prove himself outstanding in the nets. Newton was beaten 19 times by opponent's shots over the course of the season and came up with many spectacular saves.

The season started against Melrose High early in December as the Blue won 3-2 on two last period goals by Jack Morrison. The next Saturday, the team traveled to Boston College, where they lost their only game of the season to a superior Eagle freshman team, 4-3. Sides, Stuart, and Jim Knowles scored in this contest.

Upon its return from vacation, the team began to realize its full potential. Noble and Greenough fell to Morrison's golden touch as the speedy lower netted a sudden-death overtime goal to give Andover a 4-3 victory. The team then faced the undefeated Harvard freshman team. Behind 3-0 going into the second period, the Blue displayed tremendous hustle and spirit to salvage a 4-4 tie. Neither team was able to score in the action packed overtime, which was highlighted by expert goaltending on the part of both goalies.

In the next two games, the team racked up 15 goals to the opposition's 3 while gliding past the Bowdoin Freshmen 6-2 and Milton Academy, 9-1. Sides and Morrison scored nine goals between them and Newton turned in strong netminding as the team prepared for the Deerfield game.

Deerfield posed no problem as Sides, Morrison, Stuart, and Newton started before an SRO crowd in the season's only night game. Captain Sides thrilled the fans with his hustle and scored the first goal of the game early in the first period. Morrison scored what proved to be the game winner on a solo dash near the end of the period to make the score 3-2. The remainder of the game saw the Blue turn the contest into a rout, the final score being 5-2.

Travelling to Hanover, the team found itself faced with tough competition at the hands of the Dartmouth Freshmen. Dex Newton was outstanding in the nets as the Blue racked up its fifth win in a row on goals by linemates Morrison and Smoyer.

In the next three games, Andover's potent attack prevailed as the team whipped past Middlesex, Hebron, and Medford High. Goaltender Newton turned in two shutouts during this span. The linemen broke loose with 27 goals while the opposition was able to score only two. In the most lopsided game of the season, eight players lit the light in a 12-0 romp over Medford. Ed Graney, George Peterson, Sides and Morrison each scored twice while Stuart, Smoyer, Jorge Gonzalez, and Dave Gibson scored one apiece.

by upending the Harvard JV's 4-3, as Morrison potted the winning goal in a sudden-death overtime.

The Blue came from behind to beat St. Paul's, 4-2, marking the first time in six years this feat has been accomplished. Down 2-1 midway through the third period, Andover rallied to win on a picture goal by Dave Gibson, followed by tallies from the sticks of Smoyer and Sides.

Pressure mounted as the Exeter game approached — both teams were entering the season's finale with 11 game winning streaks. After a scoreless first period, the Blue turned on the power and left Exeter far behind. The game turned into a rout as Gibson scored two. Sides, Peterson, Knowles, and Morrison one apiece. It was a fitting end for a great season — one that will not be equalled for years to come.

basketball

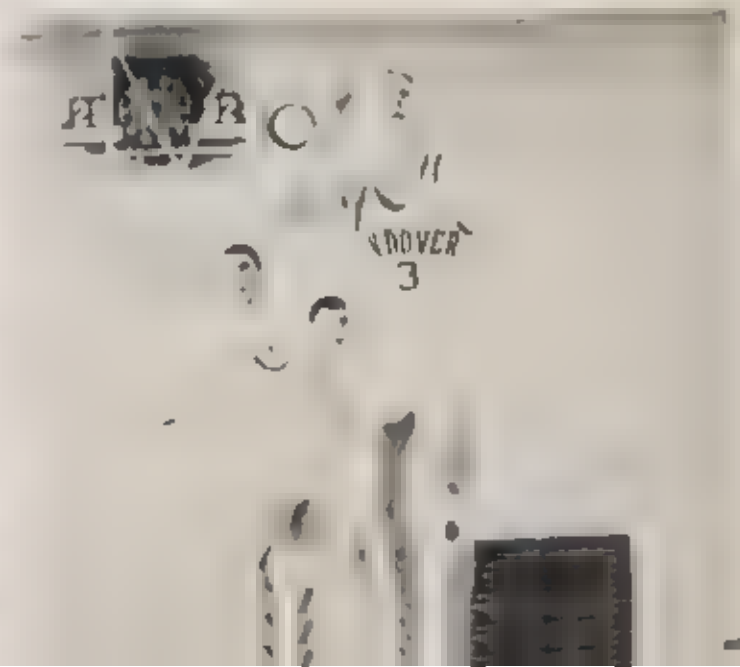

With several talented lettermen returning, the main problem confronting this year's basketball team was a lack of height. This handicap was particularly noticeable in the losing efforts against the tall college freshmen squads. On other occasions, all in the first half of the schedule, when the Blue were able to coordinate an effective defense with a sharp shooting attack, the game outcomes were considerably different.

Andover opened the season with a four game winning streak. In the first contest, forward Tom Brayton scored 31 points in leading the Blue to a smashing victory over Wentworth. Bob Holt and Bernie Boone performed ruggedly under the boards and Captain Bill Kingston tallied 13 points from the backcourt.

Brayton also lead the Dekemen to an 81-60 rout of the M.I.T. Frosh. Bowdoin succumbed to a brilliant Andover team effort 82-72. Five P.A. players hit for double figures as the Blue were in control almost all the way. After Brayton and Holt spurred the squad on to an 88-84 decision over Tufts Freshmen, it appeared the Dekemen were ready to demolish all remaining opposition.

However, on January 21, the University of New Hampshire's tall, powerful freshman team crushed the Blue 103-68 and ended the victory streak at four. The Frosh tide ran roughshod through Andover's defense, after being slowed temporarily in the second period.

Previously undefeated Deerfield fell to the Dekemen's best all around performance of the season. Mike Moonves hit for 22 points and turned in a solid defensive job, as did Tom Brayton, who scored 20. After leading 21-16 at the end of the first quarter, Andover widened the gap to 19 midway in the second stanza. Deerfield, however, was not beaten yet. The Green whittled the lead away until it was only one point with four minutes remaining in the game. Moonves and Kingston then took charge and the Blue came through to win 76-75.

Exeter was the cagers' next opponent, but unlike the first few contests of the season, the Andover quintet was plagued by poor shooting and general sloppiness. Al Bornheimer tallied 30 markers in leading the Exies to a 71-62 victory after P.A. had led 20-15 at the first quarter and 34-30 at the half.

The first Exeter contest became the turning point of the season, for then the Blue lost six games in a row to college opposition. After the Brown Frosh tripped the Dekemen 78-67, a tall, experienced Boston College squad also trounced them 97-75. Poor Blue foul shooting and a minor injury to Bill Kingston helped the strong Northeastern combine beat Andover 86-63.

Height was again the deciding factor in the Harvard game at Cambridge. The game was a dismal one for Andover supporters as a relentless barrage of Crimson tallies secured their 77-44 victory. The story was much the same at Amherst where the lanky freshmen triumphed 78-52.

After losing 79-68 to Suffolk, the Blue journeyed to Exeter to face the same team which had touched off the string of losses four weeks before. The strong offensive performances of Tom Brayton and Bill Kingston enabled the visitors to tie the score 23-23 in the second quarter after they had fallen behind in the opening minutes. The Exeter attack then began to jell, and P.E.A. came out on the long end of a 79-61 score.

A mixture of experience, potential, hard work, and "guts," along with the help of Mr. Lux and Mr. Lemp, blended into one of the best wrestling teams in many years. Led by Captain Andy Graham, Tony Vanderwalker, Dorsey Gardner, and Kit Dove, all seniors and veteran grapplers, the Luxmen compiled a seven and one record with impressive wins over Hope High, M.I.T. Frosh, Governor Dummer, Warwick High, Needham High, Browne and Nichols, and Exeter. The team ended the season with a successful showing in the interscholastics.

After defeating Hope High and M.I.T. in the first two matches of the season, the Blue matmen came to their first real testing at the hands of Governor Dummer, who was previously undefeated for almost three seasons. Despite close losses in three out of the five lower weight classes, the Blue were only six points down to the Governors when Dove, after a beautiful takedown for the only points in the first period, pinned his man to give Andover a slim two point lead. Vanderwalker's win gave the Blue a narrow 19-17 lead going into the final match. However, Pete Watson's reversal pin of his opponent clinched P.A.'s third straight dual meet win.

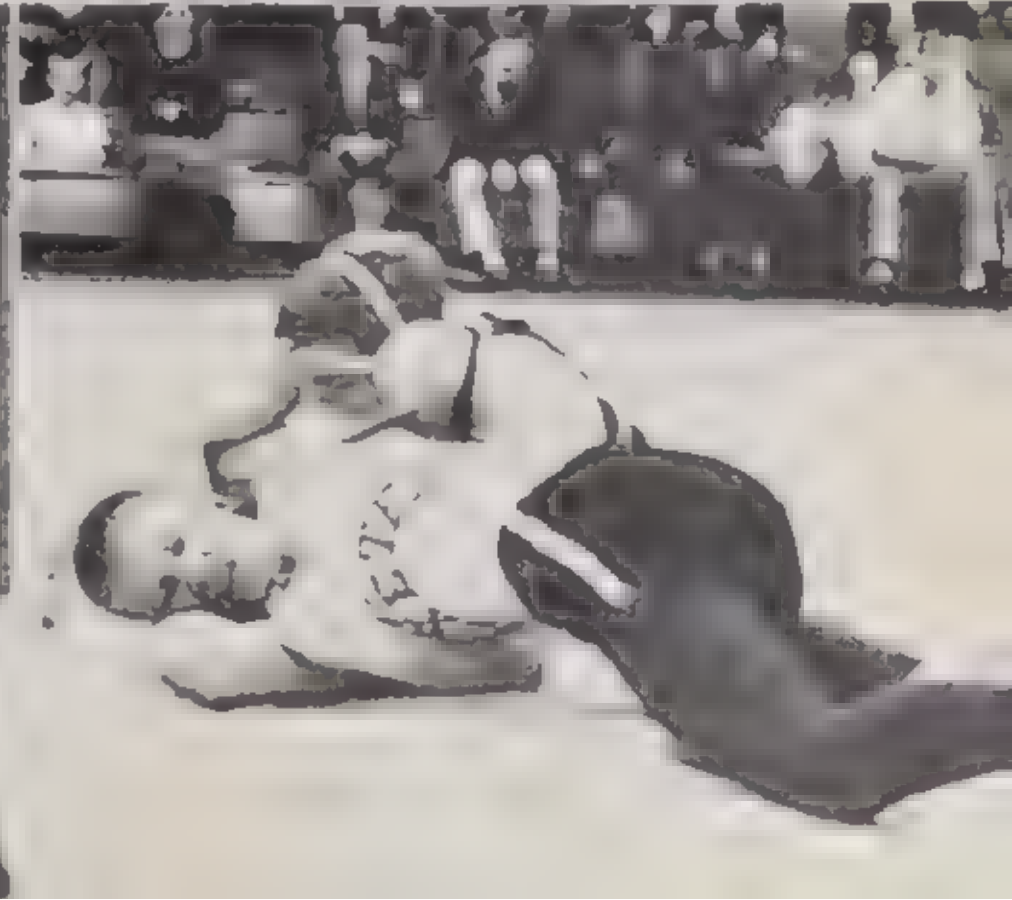

In its next match, the Blue downed Warwick by the slim margin of 22-19. Wrestling without Graham and Vanderwalker, the Luxmen did a commendable job. A forfeit, followed by Tom Gilmore's and Pete Muller's wins gave Andover an early 11-0 lead. Warwick, however, won four of the next six weight classes, with Dove and Abrahamson salvaging the only Blue victories. Pete Watson came through with another clutch win, beating his opponent 3-0, and saved the match.

The Luxmen then traveled to Milton where they lost their only match of the season. The lead changed back and forth in a well fought struggle, but the Milton grapplers prevailed, 21-18.

Losing 14-0 to Needham High, the Blue showed tremendous spirit as they rallied to win 22-16. Alex Walling, Andy Graham, and Ivan Higgins won decisive victories which started the team on the comeback trail.

Setting the stage for the clash with the highly touted Exeter team, Andover eased by Browne and Nichols. The Blue matmen jumped to an early two point lead over Exeter as Tom Gilmore pinned his opponent, and Dorsey Gardner matched his foe's escape for a tie. Exeter came roaring back, however, but they ran out of steam as Ivan Higgins tied his match and Dove, Vanderwalker, and Wales followed with hard-fought victories. Andover won 24-18 to put the icing on a tremendous season.

Dicky-do pulls through

Tight squeeze

The Andover ski team experienced a spectacular season. The team not only had one of its best skiers in its history, Captain Dick Durrance, but also considerable depth. Providing the necessary support to Durrance were Langdon Carter, Charles Lobitz, Dave Verrill, Jim Griswold, and George Peters. Durrance led the team in every event but Carter, Verrill, and Lobitz pressed him continuously.

The first meet of the year matched P.A. against Holderness, also having one of its best teams, Hebron, Kimball Union, and Gould Academy. Andover, hampered by falls in the Alpine events, took fourth place.

In their second meet the team beat St. Pauls by a large margin. The meet consisted of cross country and jumping only. Durrance captured first place in both events with Carter trailing close behind.

The team put on its best performance in the next contest, clobbering Exeter and Dublin. Durrance won the slalom, the down hill, and the cross country. He missed winning the jumping event by one-tenth of a point, settling for second place. Dave Verrill made a strong bid against Durrance in the cross country.

Next, the ski team trounced Exeter in an informal meet at Boston Hill. The only event was a slalom. Durrance, Carter, and Lobitz all were within one second of each other, placing first, second, and third respectively.

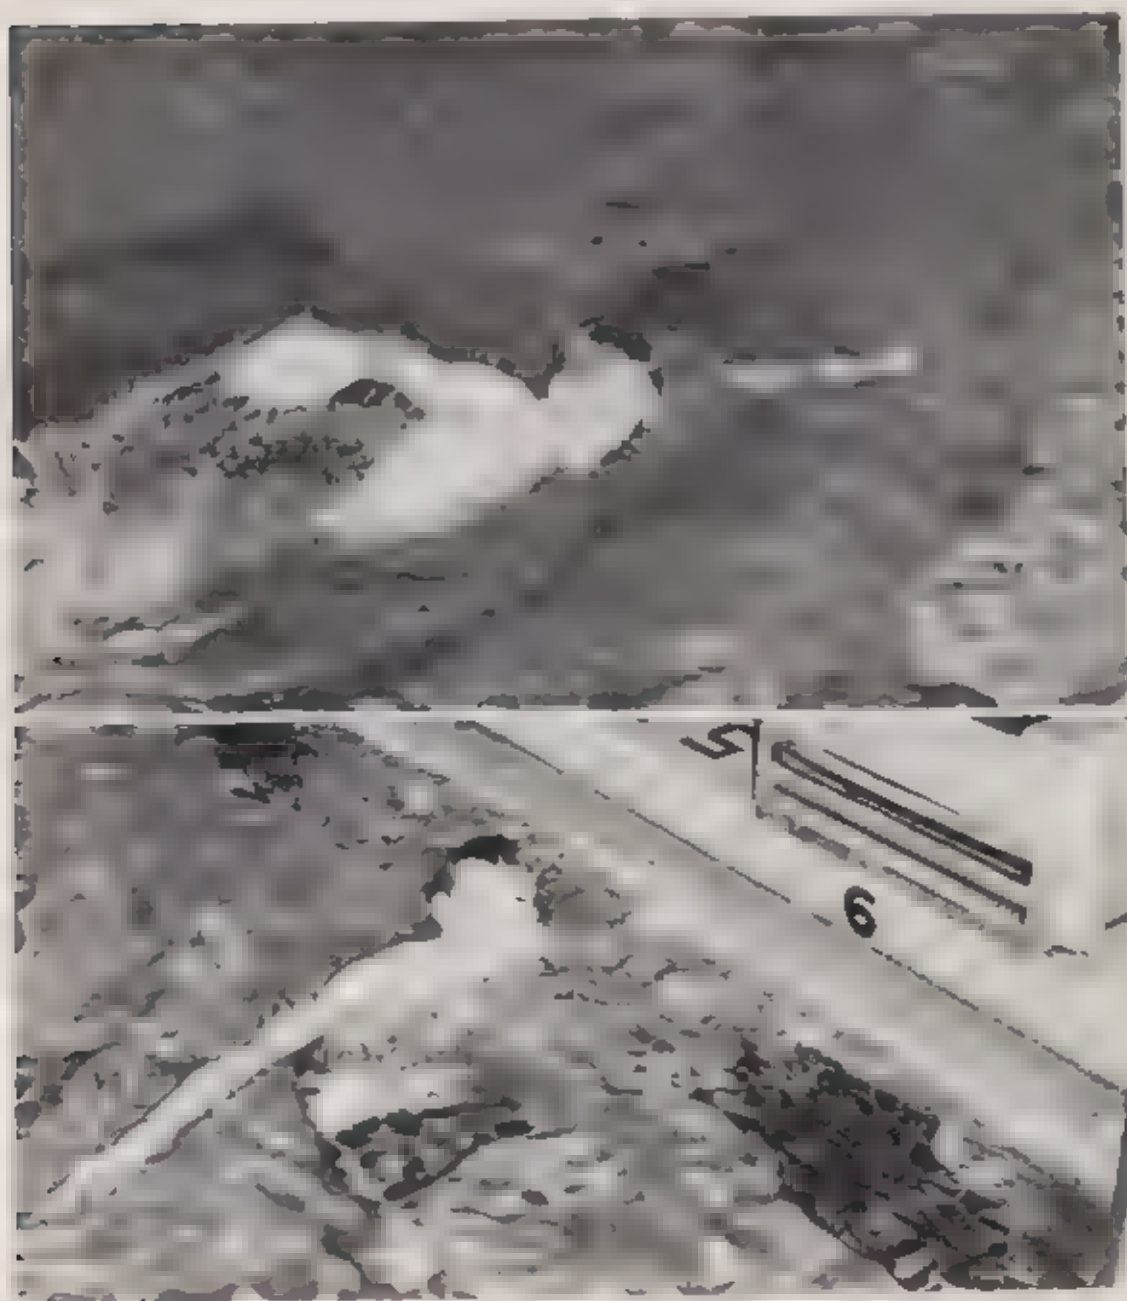

The team climaxed an excellent year by making the best showing in the Interscholastics at Middlebury that any Andover team has ever made. Despite the scarcity of snow, the conditions were acceptable. With this same team last year they would have won the Interscholastics. However, unfortunately for Andover, Holderness, Kimball Union and Vermont Academy also had extremely strong teams. Durrance and Carter led the team to a fourth place finish. Durrance took second place in the slalom losing by one-tenth of a second to the National Junior Champion while George Peters jumped far better than usual.

In one of the most exciting seasons in many years, the Andover Swimming Team compiled an excellent 8-3 record against some of the strongest teams it has ever faced. Lacking the superstars of last year's team, the squad overcame most of its opponents by great team efforts. The outstanding members of the team were Captain Cy Hornsby and Dan Mahoney who had undefeated seasons in the backstroke and the dive respectively.

Although not rated highly in the Phillipian forecast, the team started off the year by easily defeating Portland High School 63-24 in a meet in which Andover failed to take a first in only two events. Excellent performances were turned in by lower Stu Davis in the 200 yard freestyle and Dan Mahoney in the dive.

In its next two meets, the Andover team easily beat Worcester 66-20 and Mt. Hermon 49-37. Bill Vincent and Mike Mayers were outstanding in these two meets, each taking two firsts, Mayers in the butterfly and Vincent in the 50 yard freestyle.

The next meet against the Dartmouth Freshmen pitted the Andover swimmers against one of the strongest teams in the East. This meet saw the pool records in the 100 yard breaststroke and the individual medley fall to Dartmouth swimmers.

A week later the team atoned for this loss in a meet against Deerfield which will long be remembered by swimmers and spectators alike. The Deerfield team fought its way down to Andover through one of the year's worst blizzards only to be stunned with its first loss to Andover in twelve years. However, in all this joy there was a little sadness, for Dan Mahoney had missed setting a new school and pool record in the dive by a heartbreaking .13 of a point.

The following week Andover rolled over an individually strong Brown Freshmen Swimming Team. Pete Winship contributed one of Andover's seven firsts with his best time in the 100 yard breaststroke to that date.

The next meet proved to be a rude shock to the Andover team. The Williston team, one of the strongest Andover faced all year, completely dominated the meet, allowing Andover its only firsts in the backstroke and the dive.

Andover's opposition remained strong the next week as the Harvard Freshmen easily overcame the Blue 54-32.

Finally in the meet against Exeter, the team won 45-41 with its best effort of the year. Bill Vincent started things off by taking first in the 50 yard freestyle. Dave Hackett and Stu Davis then won their races with their best times of the year. Pete Winship then swam the fastest breaststroke race ever swum by an Andover student. And although he was defeated by Exeter's co-captain, Hough, Winship set a record breaking a time held since 1925. Dan Mahoney easily captured first and the Andover-Exeter record in the dive with a score of 70.30 points. Then in one of the most exciting finishes in recent years, the Andover freestyle relay team of Pete Preston, Dan Mahoney, Cy Hornsby, and Bill Vincent edged out the Exeter team to win the meet for Andover. Congratulations are in order to Coaches McClement and Adams, Captain Hornsby, and the rest of the team on the excellent job they have done this year.

Though some on campus were worried about Andover's track prospects before the season started, the team, captained by Tony Accetta, proved them wrong and went on to enjoy a fine season with a winning record. Perhaps a part of their success can be attributed to the greatly improved cage. A fresh coat of paint has relieved the gloom, and a new ventilating system has gotten rid of the dust. New pits made the jumpers happy, and an extension for the fifty yard dash pleased the sprinters and hurdlers. Captain Accetta, Steve Hobson, Jim Wessner, Pete Huvelle, Gage MacAffee, and Keith Chiappa displayed talent in the longer distance running events, while in the sprints lower Andy Cahners was a steady winner; in the hurdles Tom Phelps starred. Tony King led the pole-vaulters, Charlie Ward and Tom DuHammel the broad jumpers, and Steve Lemkin and Fred Cass, the high jumpers. George Houpis, co-captain elect of this year's spring track team, and Tim Beck, captain elect of next year's winter track squad did especially well in the shot and discus, while Steve Sorota and Jack Badman threw the weights.

Andover got off to a good start in its opener, a three team meet with Governor Dummer and Huntington. The totals were Andover-49, G.D.-33, and Huntington-6. George Houpis broke the cage record by heaving the shot 54'6".

In its second meet the team crushed the B. U. Freshmen 76 $\frac{2}{3}$ to 26 $\frac{1}{3}$. Tom Phelps and Denny Holahan swept the hurdles, Andy Cahners won the fifty in a very close race, and Jim Wessner led an Andover sweep in the mile.

P.A. suffered its first defeat to a powerful Dartmouth Freshmen team, 60-39. Dartmouth took eight out of eleven first places. Numerous seconds and thirds, along with firsts in the broad jump, hurdles, and 1000 were not enough to take a more powerful team from the North.

On January 28 the Blue's relay team of MacAffee,

Huvelle, Accetta, and Hobson lost to Exeter at the B.A.A. track meet. The next week saw Chris O'Hiri, Harvard's Olympian from Nigeria, set a new cage record in the broad jump while leading the Crimson Frosh to a 70-37 $\frac{1}{2}$ victory. In the meet Tom Phelps and Andy Cahners again won the hurdles and 300 respectively.

The high point of the season came when Andover won the Interscholastics and regained her New England supremacy. P. A. collected an amazing 69 $\frac{1}{2}$ points, while Huntington was second with 24, and Governor Dummer third with 17 $\frac{1}{2}$. Jim Wessner lost to Baird of Huntington in the mile, and Moses Brown took the relay, but every other first went to Andover. Cahners won the fifty and the three hundred; Hobson, the 1000 and 600. Phelps, the 45 yard high hurdles, Lemkin, the high jump; and George Houpis, the shot.

The season closed with a tough loss to Exeter in the closest meet of the season, 42 $\frac{2}{3}$ to 37 $\frac{1}{3}$. Accetta, Huvelle, and Hobson swept the 1000, George Houpis broke the Andover-Exeter meet record in the shot, and Tom Phelps tied the Exeter cage record in the 45 yard high hurdles.

Although showing much potential at times, Andover's squash team had a record no better than five wins and seven losses.

Before the Fall term exams, P.A. opened the season against Harvard Frosh. The Blue suffered a 7-0 setback, managing to salvage only three games from the Freshmen. But Coach Hoitsma's team looked much better after Christmas vacation when they beat Middlesex 4-1.

The next week, a journey to Choate proved to be fruitless as the Choates won a close one 4-3. Number one prep-school player in the country, Maurice Heckscher, won a decisive match when he defeated P.A.'s Pete Svastich in three games.

The following Wednesday, again the team lost 4-3, this time in their first of two matches with Exeter. In a very exciting match, Svastich nudged out Exie team captain Satterthwaite in five games. P.A. captain Jim Payne and lower Bob Stevens also won their matches for the Blue. Saturday, January 21, Deerfield inflicted a third straight defeat on the team 5-2.

Finally breaking out of their losing streak, the team easily subdued St. Paul's 5-0 and Brooks 4-1. P.A.'s Pete Svastich, Mac Rogers, Mike Cohen, and Jim Payne won both their matches.

An unusual reversal of score took place February 1 when Middlesex beat the team 5-0 after having lost to P.A. earlier in the season. The inspired playing of the Middlesex team attributed to the change of scores.

After another 7-0 loss to Harvard February 9, the Blue downed Dartmouth 6-1 two days later. Mike Rosati lost the only match to ex-Andover man, Whit Foster, in five games.

The following week, Andover put on a surprising display in the Interscholastics where they placed a close second behind Deerfield. Although P.A.'s Mike Rosati and Ed Cox lost to Heckscher of Choate and Coonley of Deerfield relatively early in the tournament, Svastich went as far as the finals, where he was beaten by Heckscher.

Then after a 9-0 sweep of M.I.T., the team traveled to Exeter, where they lost 5-2. Svastich won his match with little trouble while Payne came from behind to gain the only other Andover victory.

With 21 boys out for boxing this year, 14 of them veterans, the Andover boxing team enjoyed what Mr. Mikula termed, "the best season in years." This success came only because each man had mastered the fundamentals, and consequently everyone was punching hard. Captain Steve Most and Dick Lowndes, an English exchange student, were rated by Mr. Mikula as the top two boxers in the program.

Daily practice was rigorous — each boy could expect to box 3 rounds, and then run and punch the bags for 6 rounds, in order to give everyone a chance in the ring. In this way, the team was in top condition for the two intersquad matches, and one extramural match with St. Paul's. In both intersquad matches, 9 bouts were fought, thus giving 18 boys a chance to box under the guidance of a professional referee who would give each contestant advice at the end of a round.

Because one of the two scheduled matches with St. Paul's was cancelled, our team met theirs only once at St. Paul's. 10 boys were representing Andover's pugilistic honor, but several had to box up a weight-class, which hampered their effectiveness, even though this year's team was heavier than usual. St. Paul's provided no official scorekeeper, but Andover scorers decided that we had lost 4-3, with Dan Halcombe, Bob Keeney, and John Matthias winning their matches for Andover.

In previous years, only the boxing captain received his varsity letter, but this year the Athletic Advisory Board acknowledged the ability that the team showed, and gave out 6 letters. The real purpose of the boxing program is essentially to develop a boy's character and coordination, but every few years a group of more talented boys is brought together that has the makings of a team that is well-qualified to represent Andover in athletic contests. Such was the case this year, and the Board quickly recognized boxing as a major sport, and the members of this year's team as members of one of the best teams in years.

I a c r o s s e

This year's varsity lacrosse team had a very successful season, marred only by defeats to Deerfield and Harvard. Coached again by Mr. Hulburd and Mr. Pynchon, the team centered about Captain Dave Gibson, Budge Upton, Denny Gallaudet, Paul Kalkstein, and Toby Hay.

After snow cancelled the first scheduled contest of the year, a usual romp of the Tufts Frosh, the Blue opened their season on April 19, by defeating Governor Dummer 9-5. Despite the bitter cold and thick mud, Andover played very creditably, especially in the first and fourth periods, Mike Mayers and Denny Gallaudet each scored two goals.

Displaying complete superiority in all phases of the game, the Blue routed Tabor 15-2. Mike Mayers again tallied first on a fine set up by Beaver Gibson. After Gibson, Gallaudet, Peters, and Farrar scored, Tabor's hopes were all but crushed. Andover's relentless barrage continued in the second quarter as Budge Upton scored an unassisted goal and tallied again three minutes later. Pete Richardson and Paul Kalkstein also scored for the Blue that period. Meanwhile, Tabor was unable to sustain any real attacks as they were thwarted constantly by the hustling P. A. defense.

After trouncing M.I.T. and Mt. Herman, Andover continued its winning ways as Gibson, Gallaudet, Upton, and Kalkstein combined for fifteen goals in sparking the squad on to a 20-2 rout of U.N.H. freshmen. The frosh were able to get off only nine shots all afternoon and their zone defense, though new to the P. A. team, proved futile in the long run. Andover's defense, strong throughout the game, was especially potent in the first period as it limited U.N.H. to only one shot which was blocked by goalie Ivan Higgins.

Andover's hopes for an undefeated season came crashing down on May 6, when a powerful Deerfield team snapped the Blue winning streak at three by whipping them 9-6. The shock of suitable competition which the Green provided proved to be overwhelming as Deerfield jumped out to a quick 4-1 lead in the first quarter on two goals by Thayer and one each by Ballard and Annison. Pete Richardson and Beaver Gibson lead the P.A. attack while Mike Rosati headed the midfield. Though behind for most of the game, the Blue never gave up. Several times throughout the contest, they came close to tying up the score, only to be turned back again by the stalwart Green defense.

After dropping an 8-3 decision to the Harvard Freshmen in a tough game at Cambridge on May 17, Andover returned to its victorious paths the next Saturday by defeating the over powerful Boston Lacrosse Club 9-7. The Blue victory was achieved by good, solid teamwork, such as displayed in the Tabor rout. Budge Upton once again lead the P.A. attack with one goal and five assists.

After winning their eighth game by coming from behind to beat a spirited St. Paul's team 7-4, the lax men traveled to Exeter to face the perennially strong Red squad. After a hard fought scoreless first period, P.E.A. grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second quarter. However, Denny Gallaudet tied the score with his first goal of the afternoon and Andover went out in front 3-1 on a goal by Budge Upton and another by Gallaudet. Exeter fought back, but Gallaudet clinched the Blue victory as he tallied once more in the closing seconds of the game. The 4-2 win, the first time P.A. has beaten Exeter in the last ten years, was a fitting climax to an extremely satisfying season.

At the outset of the season, the P.A. baseball squad had high hopes for a successful season, as Captain Steve Kehas, Mike Moonves, Tone Grant, and Dave Murphy returned. Some underclassmen, Dan Hootstein, Dale Stevens, and Dennis Kloefer added depth to the team. In the season's opener, Newton High School was able to collect ten hits and triumph over P.A. 8-3. Jay Ogsbury relieved starter Tone Grant in the first and continued to pitch until his control gave out in the ninth frame. Dennis Kloefer came in to relieve Ogsbury. In the last of the ninth, Kloefer lined a single to right driving in two of Andover's three runs.

Coach Harrison was looking for the first victory of the season at the hands of the Brown Frosh, a team Andover had defeated for three consecutive years. But they proved too powerful for P.A., Although Steve Kehas pitched the whole game and fanned twelve, the Blue dropped its second game by a score of 5-1. Next Yale Freshmen invaded Andover. A combination of five P.A. errors and nine Eli batters in the fifth inning sent starter Kehas to the showers. P.A. grad, Jim Turchik, aided Yale as he sparkled in the field and collected three hit and two runs batted in: as Yale defeated Andover, 7-3.

Finally the home team got underway as it crushed M.I.T. Frosh 11-4. Dan Hootstein's tremendous three run homer along with Ogsbury's superb pitching job—he fanned seventeen—gave P.A. its first victory. Both Brayton's triple and Durston's four hits added the needed punch. But in the next game, Deerfield was aided by four Blue errors, which gave the Green four runs, as P.A. was shutout, 5-0.

Tufts' Freshmen were the next victims of Andover. P.A. led 2-0 after three innings and victory seemed assured. But Tufts bounced back with two runs in the fourth. It was a tie until the ninth when Mike Moonves and Dale Stevens combined their hitting talents with Jay Ogsbury to score two decisive runs. Ogsbury retired Tufts in order in the ninth as the Royal Blue won its second game, 4-2.

The Tufts victory raised the team's spirit as they edged New Hampshire Frosh 4-2. Murphy slammed a double to lead off the ninth, and after two men were retired, Dan Hootstein singled to left scoring Murphy.

Exeter journeyed to Andover on May 20 only to return to the north country as the victims of an eight hit, eight run Andover attack. The masterful pitching of Jay Ogsbury held Exeter down as only one Exie reached third and only two managed to get to second base. P.A. played errorless ball, as it romped in the first Exeter game on a four hit shutout 8-0.

Cushing Academy proved to be a tough team for the second year in a row. The game was a see-saw battle with Cushing on top until the bottom of the ninth. With the bases loaded, Coach Harrison put on the suicide squeeze. Jay Ogsbury executed the play perfectly, sending Tom Brayton across with the tying run. Then in the twelfth thanks to Durston, Hootstein was moved to second. Mike Moonves enabled Hootstein to score on a slow roller to short.

The finale of the season came with Exeter in an unprecedented second game. Coach Harrison started Steve Kehas on the mound. Kehas pitched his best game of the season as he struck out twelve. Andover opened up quickly with solid hits by Zukerman, Murphy, Grant, and Durston. The Royal Blue was ahead 9-0 in the bottom of the ninth. Kehas was only three outs away from his second Exeter victory in as many years. But two Exeter hits and an error allowed the Red to break Kehas' shutout, as the Blue returned to Andover victorious, 9-1.

The Royal Blue finished the season with a 7-5 record. The team has to be highly praised for their strong comeback after initial setbacks and their incessant spirit throughout the season.

The 1961 edition of the Track Team, led by co-captains Steve Hobson and George Houpis and under the direction of Mr. Steve Sorota compiled a record of four wins and three losses. The highlight of the season, of course, was the Exeter meet on May 31. From the beginning of the season, everyone's eyes were set on revenging the defeat at the hands of the Red during the Winter Track season.

The first meet of the year, against the Northeastern Frosh, was held inside the Cage because of a late Spring snow. Northeastern handed the Blue their first loss by a score of 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ to 50 $\frac{1}{3}$. Bright spots of the day were Tom DuHamel's 21'3" in the broad jump and Fred Gass's 5'10" in the high jump.

As a warm-up for the Interscholastics, Andover met the Brown Freshmen on Wednesday, May 17 and repeated their victory of the previous Saturday. Similar to Holy Cross, Brown also lacked depth, having a team of only ten men. Andover took the meet by a score of 67 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 49 $\frac{1}{2}$.

On Saturday, May 20, Andover met Exeter in the Interscholastics, for their first of two meetings. The Blue captured three firsts in the field events before the running events got under way. Tom DuHamel soared to 22'6" in the broad jump, Steve Lemkin and Fred Gass tied at 5'8" in the high jump, and George Houpis set a new school record in the shot put with a throw of 55' 2 1/4". Gage McAfee took a first in the 440, Tom Phelps won the high hurdles and Pete Huvelle captured the 880. Coming from behind, Exeter took the meet 93 to 75, but if it was scored as a dual meet, Andover would have beaten Exeter by three points.

The annual Andover-Exeter meet was held one week later at Brothers' Field. The Red managed to pull out a narrow victory by sweeping all three places in the last event, the discus. Exeter took seven of the thirteen firsts to amass a score of 63 points, Andover tallied 58.

Blue firsts were recorded by McAfee in the 400, Chiappa in the 880, Mettler in the Mile, Phelps in the 120 highs and 220 lows, and Lemkin in the high jump.

Despite the loss to Exeter, the Blue finished with a respectable record. A few untimely injuries accounted for several lost points in both the Inter-scholastics and the Exeter meet, but several surprising performances filled these gaps.

Captain Mac hits one across

Returning this year as varsity tennis coach, Mr. Banta directed the '61 team to a season that saw the Blue take seven out of nine matches. Captain John McPherson, Ed Cox, and Bill Kingston sparked the team as returning lettermen, while new talent from preps George Andrews and Jack Morrison rounded out the nucleus of the strong Blue. Dinny Adams and Tom Gilbert played in most of the matches, switching their ladder ranking several times during the season.

The team got off to a sizzling start, shutting out the first two opponents. In a match that was composed entirely of singles, Brown Freshmen fell by a score of 7-0. MIT Freshmen were the second victims of the Blue by another 7-0 shutout. The team next played host to Dartmouth on the Rockwell courts. At the number one and two spots, Captain McPherson and George Andrews made brilliant comebacks to take their match by winning four and five straight games respectively. The team lost only one singles match and posted a 6-1 victory.

St. Pauls was shut out 9-0 in the fourth victory of the season. After six singles were won, Andrews and McPherson had no trouble taking the number one doubles 6-0, 6-3. In the same fashion Cox and Kingston trounced their opponents 6-2, 6-1, while Gilbert and Svastich completed the shutout 6-1, 7-9, 7-5. In the same week the Blue suffered its first loss to a strong Harvard Freshmen team. The doubles combination of Morrison and Gilbert accounted for the team's only win of the day, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

After a five hour match with Deerfield in which the lead changed hands four times, the team emerged victorious with a 5-3 score. The score was tied at three apiece after the singles matches were over. Andrews and McPherson then took their doubles in straight sets, while Kingston and Cox insured victory with a 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 score. The team faced Milton Academy in the next match and came through with an impressive 7-2 score composed completely of singles matches. The second to the last match of the season pitted Williams Frosh against the Blue. The team clinched the match by winning the six singles and two of the doubles for an 8-1 win.

Tidd, Hannon, Hornsby, Pollock (Captain), Gratwick, Kirk, Wright Mayer Kaeeling Cabot.

Despite an early loss to Kent and a later defeat by the Yale Frosh, the Andover crew has proven itself a mighty rowing machine. From the outset, the oarsmen have steadily improved; their improvement is an outgrowth of the vibrant enthusiasm displayed by the participant. This enthusiasm was illustrated in the three days of early crew, 5:30-6:30 A.M. practices during Advanced Placement Testing week, and the group's utter indifference to the inclement weather.

With "Bruno" and their own enthusiasm spurring them on, Ned Cabot, cox; Jim Tidd, stroke; Dave Hannon, Cy Hornsby, Captain Tom Pollock, Jeff Gratwick, George Bartlett, Lanny Wright, and Tom Mayer faced their first race, Springfield Tech. Pulling upstream on a choppy Merrimack, the Andover first boat jumped off to an early lead and never gave Tech a chance to close the gap. A few days later, a polished Kent crew mastered Andover by a length and a half. A valiant effort to overcome Kent's lead could not make up for the ground lost at the start of the race.

Having defeated strong Harvard and St. Pauls crews, Andover entered the Interscholastics. Kent jumped to an early one-half of a length lead and increased it to a length and a quarter by the half mile mark. Then the Blue, rowing its very best, pulled to within half a length of the Kent bow. However, time did not allow the surging boat to catch the leaders. The victors set a new record of 4:56.8. Andover also bettered the old record.

Back: Mohr, Rudgers, Stroud, Mr. Markey (Coach). Front Weinberger, Stewart (Captain), McKee, Brown.

With four returning lettermen, Bill Stewart, Captain, Abe Stroud, Bill McKee, Jeff Brown, and three newcomers, Brent Mohr, Mel Weinberger, and Terry Rogers, the Varsity Golf team looked forward to a very successful season.

The first of three tri-meets with Exeter and Governor Dummer, at Exeter, was washed out. In the second tri meet, at Andover, the Blue picked up a fairly substantial lead over Governor Dummer and Exeter, thanks to McKee's 76 and Weinberger's 79. The Blue then traveled to Ould Newbury, Governor Dummer's home course, to play the final match. Playing on an unfamiliar course proved disastrous for the Blue as the team fell to third in the overall team standings. However, fine performances were turned in by McKee and Brown who shot a 78 and a 79 respectively.

The golf team met Exeter at Amesbury for the final match of the year. The first twosome of Weinberger and McKee was paired against Hogan and Wooten of Exeter. The Exies won all three points in this foursome, taking both singles matches and the best-ball match. Bill Stewart halted his match, but Terry Rogers was vanquished, as the best ball was lost on the 17th hole. In the last final foursome, Brent Mohr and Abe Stroud both lost extremely close matches on the 17th hole, and also lost their best ball to the Exies.

Despite an $8\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ lost to Exeter, all the varsity golfers played well. There will be ten out of the twelve Varsity and J.V. lettermen returning next year which foreshadows a very successful coming season. Much credit is due to Mr. Markey and Mr. Baldwin who did excellent jobs in shaping this year's team.

Some organizations are cited for their excellence, others for their efficiency, and then there are those organizations which are given no awards or laudits. These are the sick groups. We here at P. A. are lucky that there is one such group existing on the hill today.

The few distorted souls who make up the nucleus of the 1961 Pot Pourri can now look back on a generally unsuccessful year filled with misery, disgust, illness, and occasional catastrophe. With offices in Graves Hall, Great Neck, New York, and the beautiful third floor bathroom in Bartlett South, this year's staff spent endless hours sorting pictures, assigning and writing articles, drawing up the lay out, strong-arming certain unwilling customers, and keeping editor John Engel on the straight and narrow path.

Thrills were gotten by heelers and board members alike at the weekly Sunday afternoon meetings at the Pot Pourri's smoke filled office in Graves Hall. Amid the trampling of hundreds of feet and general chaos, Editor Engel, Managing Editor, Floyd Hoffman, and Associate Editor King Harris could be seen attempting to achieve some degree of order. While all this was going on, Advertising Manager Elias Atri would be printing up money on a special new machine supplied by the group's advisor, Mr. Farrington, to help pay the long overdue bills which were piled up in various places in the room. But somehow as the year progressed, articles and pictures started to appear and the 1961 Pot Pourri began to take form.

In all seriousness, we hope that you have found this year's book the best ever.

This year the quality of the MIRROR improved considerably. The improvement was due to the $150 in Robert Frost Prizes which the MIRROR awarded to stimulate interest in creative writing, and also due to the efforts of the MIRROR's Editorial Board and helpers whose main concern was to write — and get others writing — for the MIRROR. Some memorable contributions were Paul Warshow's "Scaredy Cat", Mike Beard's "A Good Deal", and Red Smith's "Tragical Hysterie of Benner House".

For the first time this year the MIRROR invited faculty members to contribute, a policy which resulted in the publication of "Carmen Hiemale", a poem by Mr. Dudley Fitts, and a number of poems by Mr. Augustus Napier. The MIRROR also published a story by Miss Julie Owen, an Abbotess, and a poem by a gentleman who is connected with neither Andover nor Abbot: Mr. Robert Frost. This poem had been published anonymously in the MIRROR of 1892; the MIRROR of 1961 printed it for the first time under his name.

The Art Department, led by mirror

Art Editor Stuart Wrede (who was sometimes overpowered by his two successors, Bill Donnell and Eric Heyworth), made great progress in improving the MIRROR's layout. The breakthrough came with the Robert Frost issue, when even the ads were attractive.

The Business Department also made significant gains. Business Manager Bill Drayton, whose three years with the MIRROR have resulted in a 1460% rise in advertising and 40% in circulation, were largely responsible for the MIRROR's financial success this year, as were Circulation Manager Bill McKee and Advertising Manager Rod Young.

Increased student interest and literary quality, increased strength in the Business Departments, have revealed the MIRROR's potential. Perhaps only six issues from now it may be true — that America's oldest student magazine is also one of the best."

phillips society

The tangible achievements of the Society are numerous and all of tremendous importance. The major notable events which the Phillips Society sponsored were the prep orientation picnic in September, the clothes drive in which the students gave some five thousand dollars worth of much needed clothes, two book drives, one for needy African students and the other for the loan library, a good will Christmas carol trip to the Tewksbury Hospital, and an innovation: the no pressure charities drive which gave four thousand five hundred to many good causes and which may have broken down a major barrier to the Andover student's understanding of the spirit of giving.

Besides these events, the Society members worked steadily at providing for routine necessities in the school community. Some of these routine and menial but nonetheless essential services are serving coffee for guests at Graham House after Sunday Chapel, caring for visiting athletic teams, procuring books, mail, and assignments for boys in the infirmary, and guiding guests and prospective students around the campus.

Possibly even more important than these tangible achievements is the greatly enriching experience a Phillips Society member enjoys. For the giving of time and energy to people, causes, and situations really in need of help is always a great experience. This experience goes a long way in turning Andover students into mature and socially responsible men.

The Phillips Society made an invaluable contribution to Phillips Academy throughout the school year in pursuing its goals of unrewarded service to the school, the community, and the entire world. The Executive Committee especially strove to create a kind of unity among the asundry individual committees. In past years, the essential unity of purpose of the Society has had little effect on the members of the individual committees, who seem to feel that their primary membership is not to the Phillips Society, but to their own committee. This situation is quite understandable in the light of the completely separated functions that the individual committees perform. Unity in the Society was achieved to a great extent this year as a result of such Executive acts as keeping a well-defined membership in the Society, arranging committee dinners in which the members can keep in touch with the workings of the Society through Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Pease, and the Society officers, and holding frequent meetings of the entire Society.

As the middle-man between the student body and the faculty, the Student Congress has enjoyed a successful year. Within two weeks after school started, the Congress had its first meeting. Its immediate task was to elect officers for the first half of the year. John Butler was chosen president; Budge Upton, vice president; Jim Durston, secretary; and Jim Payne, treasurer. This Congress achieved its greatest success in the area of Abbot relations. The four officers comprised the social functions committee and frequently traveled to Abbot, trying to win more concessions in the area school activities. Abbot girls are now allowed to attend athletic contests on Saturday afternoon. The Abbot Mixer, organized and run by the Student Congress, proved to be a big success.

The Congress served the school community in various other ways; it sponsored a dorm singing contest, maintained order in the Saturday night movies, supervised campus clean-up, and organized student-faculty dinners.

After Christmas vacation President Butler decided that the constitution of the Congress needed reform, this was the big task for the first Congress. A new scheme for the redistribution of representatives was brought up, but there was not a majority in favor of the new representation plan so the constitution was revamped without it.

Thus, the second Congress met for the first time with the problem of the constitution still at hand. Dan Saks was chosen to lead a committee that would find a more acceptable means of diminishing the size of the council. The officers of the new Congress were Bill Torbert, president; John Engel, vice-president, Tom Pollock, secretary; and Dan Saks, treasurer.

Both Bill Torbert and John Butler exemplified the fine leadership that forms the backbone of the power of the Student Congress.

Many awards in various fields are given out each year at Andover. All pay tribute to excellence. There is no reward for that extracurricular activity which has done the most outstanding job, but, if there was, this year's award would have gone to the school newspaper, the Phillipian, which stood above all other organizations in 1961. So superb was the Phillipian that Mr. Benedict in a Wednesday assembly made special mention of the splendid work that the paper's staff was doing.

The chief cause for such a fine year was an extremely capable and experienced staff headed by Editor-in-Chief, John Ewell, General Manager, Dan Saks, Managing Editor, Pete Winship, and Business Manager, Mark Foster. Under these four were other able students, giving the Phillipian more depth than ever before. This solid organization made the ever present and hectic weekly deadline on Tuesday much easier to meet.

From the time the staff took over in the spring term last year to the final issue at the end of this year's winter term, the most noticed and favorably commented upon part of the paper were the second page editorials of Ewell and Saks. Ewell's subject matter was greatly varied with topics such as the need for an improvement in the Daily Chapel program to the poor service of Rutter's laundry. Through subjects varied in the editorials, the mature and well written quality remained, helping to make the ideas expressed respected by all. Below the editorial was the familiar blob introducing Dan Saks's column. Whether light or serious in tone, this feature was also well worth reading.

But as good as the editorial page is, a school paper cannot achieve excellence unless it performs its fundamental task of reporting the news. The Stimson Weekend, the Exeter football game, the Spring Prom, and many other events were described in detail on the pages of the Phillipian. The sports staff, headed by Red Smith, also turned in a fine job of reporting both varsity and J.V. athletics. The pictures which accompanied many of these articles were a definite improvement over those shown in years past. The picture quality can be attributed to the fine work done by photographers Wilkie Fisher, George Budd, and Babcock Maclean. No summary of this year's Phillipian would be complete without mentioning Steve Lemkin's cartoons. The infirmary reported several cases of mental illness caused by addiction to Mr. Lemkin's efforts.

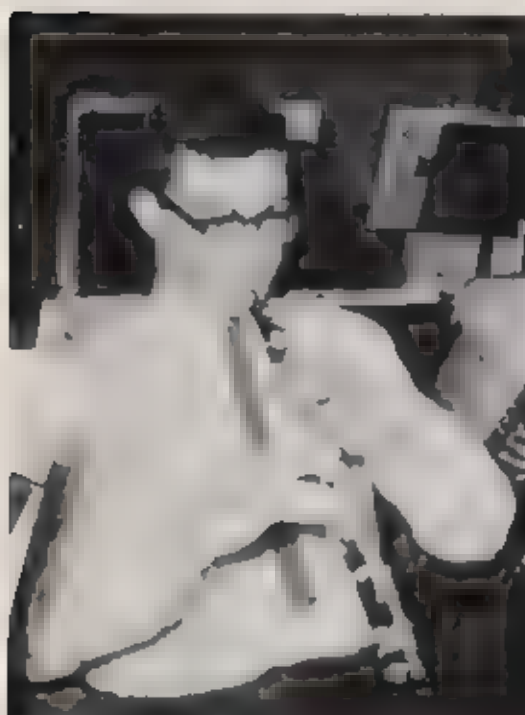

Keeping pace with the other boards was the Business Board headed by Mark Foster. The year saw a substantial increase in advertising, no doubt a reflection of the high regard local merchants and others have for the paper.

To conclude, it is hoped that next year's staff, which will be headed by Ben White will do as fine a job as this year's staff has done.

BAND

The P.A. band, under the able leadership of President Fred Gass, kicked off the marching season with a dazzling half time show at the Northwestern game. Mr. Clift, director of the band, led the others through a number of formations, ending in the traditional "A" formation. Once in the "A" the band played the Royal Blue and marched off the field. After improving during the next few games, the band reached its peak at the Exeter game. To the delight of both Exie and Andover spectators, the "Gassmen" formed a big "A" for Andover and a little "E" for Exeter. The routine was a welcome interlude in a tense game.

After the Exeter game, the marching season ended and the concert season began. The concert band put on spirited performances before the Saturday night movies at the close of each term. The band ended the shows with such favorites as "Poison Ivy" and "Rebel Rouser." Probably the most enjoyable occasion for the band members were the joint concerts with Rogers Hall in the fall term and Walnut Hill in the winter term.

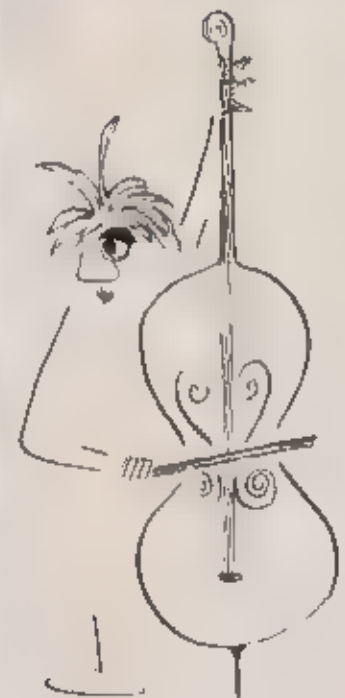

Late in the spring term the band returned to marching and climaxed the year by playing in the Memorial Day parade, then going to Revere Beach for the rest of the day.

Since September the orchestra has had one of its most successful seasons under the leadership of Mr. F. Dewitt Thornton, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, here for his first year. Alan Tartakoff has been Concertmaster for his second year. The core of string players has rehearsed four times each week and has been joined on Sunday morning by the best brass and woodwinds.

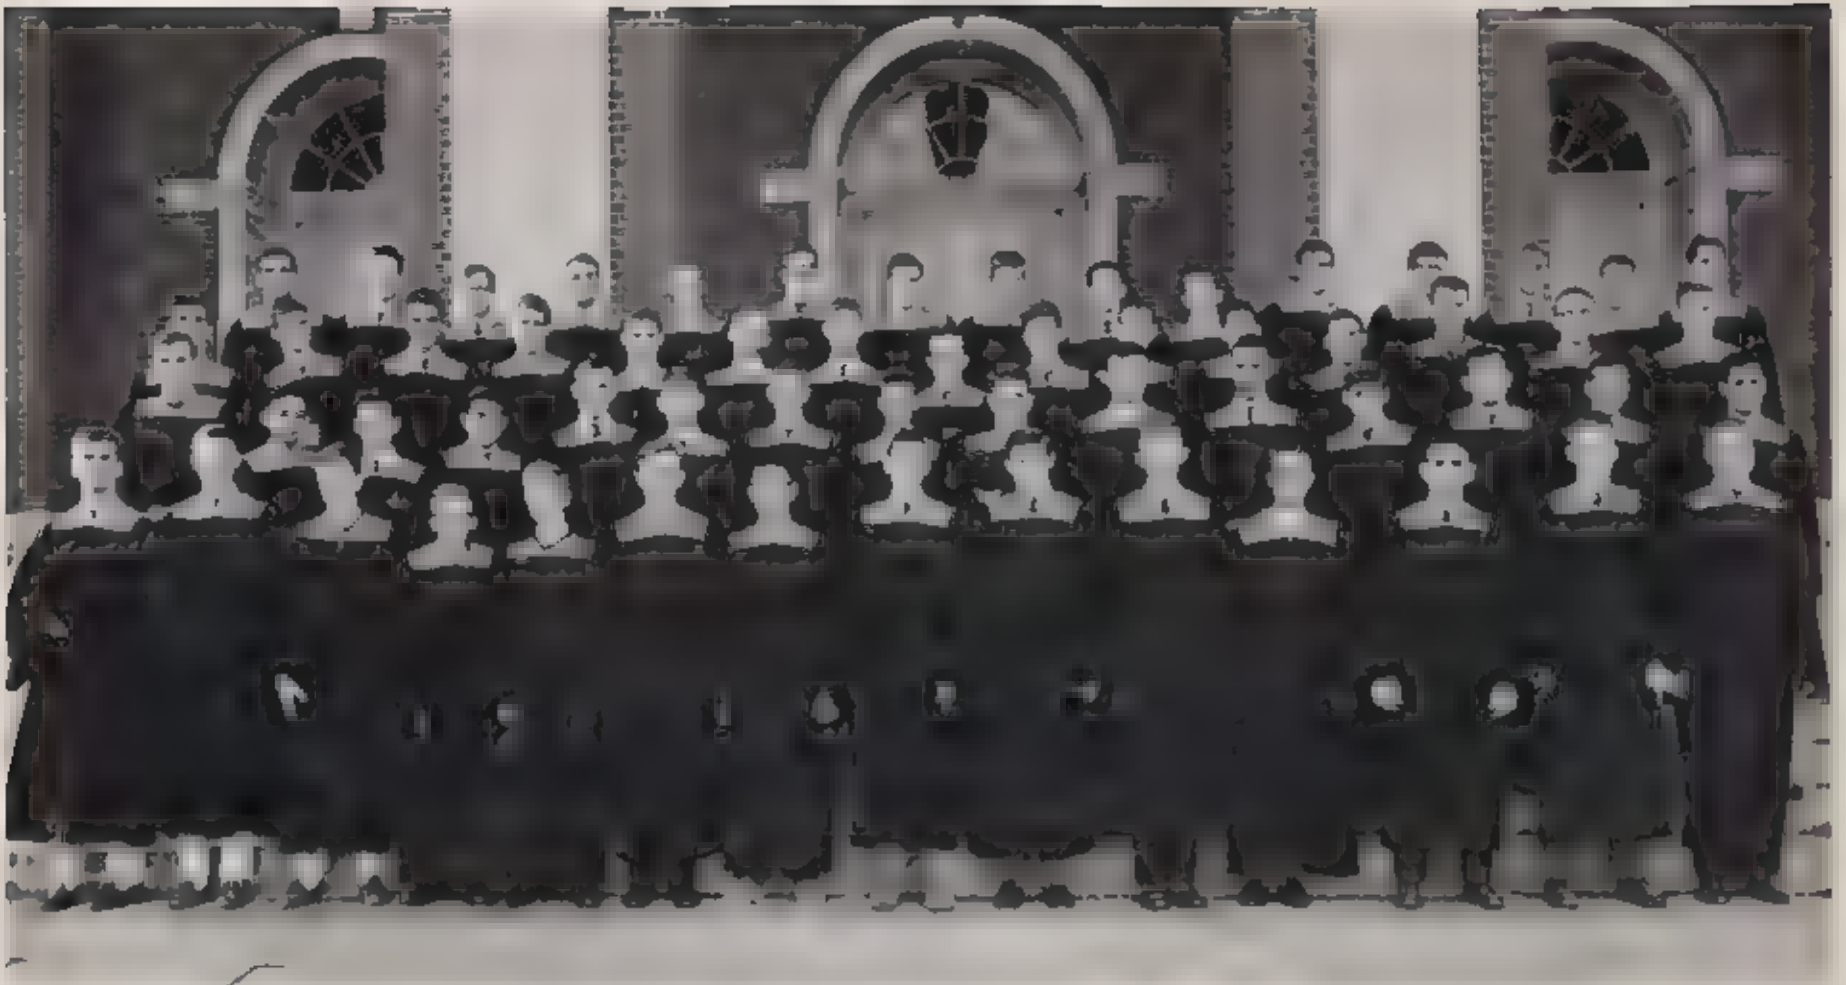

At the time of the writing of this article, the orchestra has performed publicly five times. Two of these performances were in the Chapel.

On January 28, P.A. performed the Haydn, with Dana Hall, on a program in which the orchestra performed pieces by Gluck and Gordon Jacob. On February 26, in the Addison Gallery, the strings of the orchestra gave what several faculty members considered the best student orchestral concert they had ever heard at Andover. On the program were Bach's Brandenburg Concerto #3, Barlow's The Winter's Past — with oboe soloist Stacy Langton — and Cowell's Hymn and Furling Tune #3. Cellist Dave Austin was outstanding as soloist in each of these last two concerts, playing first the Boccherini Concerto in B-Flat, then the Vivaldi Concerto in D.

But at the writing of this article, the two biggest events are yet to come; the first of these is the New England Independent School Orchestra Festival early in April, in which Andover will join approximately ten other schools; the second is the musical, Guys and Dolls, for which rehearsals have already begun.

This account proves that the orchestra, though often neglected, is one of the most active organizations on campus.

At ten o'clock on Sunday morning, a dedicated group of singers make a final effort to perfect the week's anthem. Through strict practice the chorus, under the leadership of co-presidents Gage McAfee and Mal King and treasurer Abe Stroud, maintained its high standards of previous years and had one of its most successful seasons ever. Mr. William Schneider, in his tenth year as leader of the chorus, introduced several different features into the chorus agenda. One of these was a concert given in honor of Mr. Kemper as a token of the school's gratitude for the excellent job he has done as head master.

During the fall term, sacred musical selections from various periods in the histories of Wales, Italy, and Russia were presented. Bach arrangements were especially highlighted. A new change came about in the winter semester when Mr. Schneider was able to find additional introits, thus saving the student body from listening to the one which has been used for years. This innovation added a refreshing touch to the traditional Vesper service.

During the winter term the chorus had several concerts with neighboring girls schools. The Fidelio Society of Abbot joined the chorus for the first joint performance. The concert was highlighted by Haydn's "The Heavens Are Telling." In the following weeks came concerts and dances with Dana Hall, Walnut Hill, and House in the Pines. Some of the secular pieces sung at these performances consisted of "Porgy and Bess," "Shenandoah," and "John Henry." These social gatherings were run smoothly, and added the final touch to the excellent season of the Chorus.

talented "Afterthoughts." Some of their best remembered numbers included "Soft Summer Breeze," "Wanderin'," "High Noon," and "Bible Stories."

The group is looking forward to post-graduation engagements in New York and a tentative trip to Bermuda.

This year's senior singing group was one of the best the school has seen in many years. Under the able leadership of Gage McAfee, the troubadors of the 8'n 1 enjoyed tremendous success, with engagements at Walnut Hill, House in the Pines, the Dana Hall and Abbot proms, various tea dances and parties, and our own Spring Prom. They were applauded by audiences at the Andover Inn and the New Canaan Country Club.

The group's refreshing tones were supplied by Abe Stroud and Normie Hile at first tenor; Gage McAfee, Jim Field, Dave Quattrone, and Jeff Hill at second tenor; Mal Starr, Pat Westfeldt, Duncan Bremer, and Mike Rosati at first base; and second bases Mac MacMurray, Jim Riley, and Steve Morgan. The 8'n 1 set a precedent this year by combining on the annual record album with Abbot's

This year's "Sour Grapes" made a hit with their novel approach to P.A. group singing. Their renditions of "Alley-Oop" with soloist Tim Bingham who managed to stretch an extra syllable out of every word, and of "Kinsey", with lyrics borrowed from Yale's "Augmented Seven", never failed to amuse audiences. Other songs included in their repertoire such as "Unchained Melody" and "Side by Side" preserved the dignity of the group.

George Houpis and Page Smith chirped first tenor, while second tenors Dennis Holahan, Barry Seaman, and Jerry Liles usually carried the melody. First bases Dennis Cross, Ken Hutchinson, Ned Cabot, and Tim Bingham provided the bulk of the group, while second bases Hugh Carson, Tom Gilbert, and Clint Kendrick hit the real low ones.

Under the leadership of Dennis Cross, the "Grapes" sang at such occasions as the Abbot Prom, a Dana Hall concert, tea dances, and the Spring Prom. Tentative plans have been made by a group for a summer tour of Russia, with singing engagements at Stalingrad, Leningrad, and Moscow.

Seeing the recent deterioration of Philo and, along with it, school interest in debating, a group of underclassmen decided to form a new debating society to revitalize debating at P.A. Sweeping changes in style, format, and organization were made to improve upon the poor quality of debating which had been going on for several years. Once the group was organized by a steering committee at the end of last year and named "PNYX" by Mr. Benedict at the beginning of the fall term, it quickly replaced Philo as the school's most active and popular debating society.

Believing that light topics were much more appealing than the usual dead serious Philo topics, the group featured a variety of topics, ranging from cremation vs. earth burial on one side to increase trade to Africa on the other. This format was very well received as the first few debates of the year showed. In the opening debate a team of PNYX stalwarts, including President John Young, Steve Most, and Bill Chickering, defeated a team of faculty wives on the earth-shaking topic: Faculty children should be abolished. The following two debates dealt with voting qualifications and African trade. Coming back to humorous topics, the group debated with Abbot on the subject: It is better to have loved and lost than to have never loved at all. This debate in which Paul Kalkstein, Tom Evslin, and King Harris debated for PNYX broke all debating attendance marks by drawing 250 people into G.W.

Competition with Philo for the school debating championship on a two out of three yearly basis began at the start of the winter term with Philo emerging victorious. Changing its format, the group held a forum on Daily Chapel with Mr. Kemper, Mr. Baldwin, and Bob Trivers leading the discussion. Student response was excellent and the forum cleared up many questions on this controversial subject.

Led by the President, Mark Foster, Vice-President Langdon Wright, Secretary Alan Durfee, and Treasurer Louis Wylie, the Philomathean Society enjoyed a year of serious debating. The group used the Oregon style which was adapted last year in an effort to improve and liven up the debates.

During the fall term, several Friday night debates were held. Also, some distinguished members of the faculty led two forums on the religious revival in the U.S. and the results of the 1960 election. Both proved to be interesting and informative.

At the start of the winter term, a strong Philo team of Wright, Saks, and Wylie defeated a PNYX team on the resolved: railroads should be nationalized. The rest of the term was highlighted by outside debates with Roxbury Latin and Abbot and a humorous junior debate.

In the spring the annual debates with Exeter were held as well as another debate with PNYX. Later in the term, the group helped run the Robinson Prize Debate. Finally, at the end of the term, Philo held a spring term picnic which was enjoyed by all its members. In retrospect, Philo held a moderately successful year. Next year, the membership requirements will change so entrance to the society will depend on skill in debating, rather than attendance. It is hoped that the future leaders and members of Philo will carry on in the present tradition of serious debate . . .

Officers
Bill Fay, Steve Hobson

This year has proven to be one of the most active for the Science Club. The major accomplishment was the publication of the Phillips Academy Science Journal, which was the first attempt made at P.A. for the presentation of the work done in science by Andover students. The Journal was the brain child of senior George Picczenik, and plans are being undertaken so that his fine work will be continued in ensuing years. The club was pleased with Vice-President Bill Fay's progress in the reduction of molybdenum; also of note was the work of Tim Carter with antibiotic production of actinomycetes, and President Steve Hobson's involved project concerning a primitive sex cycle in bacteria. It's been a good year!

press club

Second Row: Martin, Bakst, Anderson, Beinecke, Crowell, Boyce, Brayton, Moore. First Row: Armstrong, Weaver, Kingston, Donahoe.

Under the active leadership of President David Weaver, the Andover Press Club enjoyed a successful year marked by growth and achievement. The organization ably fulfilled its most important function of supplying extensive coverage of P.A. sports to the leading newspapers of the east, including the New York Times and Boston Herald, and, this fall, for the first time, sent reports out over the Associated Press.

The winter term saw a co-ordinated effort by club members in reporting summaries of all varsity games to the papers and in supervising the printing of basketball and hockey line ups. Highlighting the year will be the presentation of the Press Club trophy which is awarded to Andover's best all around athlete.

This year's Outing Club, under president Dick Durrance, experienced one of its more successful and enjoyable years. Dick had a great deal of support from Pete Trafton, vice president, Jim Grizwold, secretary treasurer, and the directors, Chuck Lobitz, George Peters, Landon Carter, and Jim Underwood. The Club owes Mr. Sandborn many thanks for the hard work and generosity that he has put into the club. Mr. Sanborn has devoted many hours to the needs and desires of the Club's eighty members.

The first trip of the season was the annual lobster feed outing at Kennebunkport, Maine. The group that went, which was the largest ever, was greeted by warm weather and later delicious lobsters. Also in the fall term Pete Strang and Jim Underwood ran several canoeing and mountain trips that appealed to quite a few students.

The winter term activities featured numerous skiing trips to Mt. Sunapee, a visit from John Jay, and a long weekend ski trip to Conway, New Hampshire. Charlie Martin, Pete Strang, and Jim Underwood did a commendable job of running the Sunday trips to Sunapee. Mr. Kehler's driving and the old V. W. were the only things that caused any trouble. John Jay and his film, "Olympic Holiday," were given a hearty welcome by the school in George Washington Hall.

The spring term was highlighted by Mr. James Farnsworth's film, "A Tale of Two Skis" and several mountain climbing and bird watching trips. Both the movie and the trips were received by the student body with great enthusiasm. A steak feed and another Club meeting were planned as the year approached its end.

Andover's increasing interest in chess is indicated by the increasing number of members of the Chess Club, which this year has grown to thirty. Under the leadership of its officers, Peter Gamm, William Toivainen, Freeland Abbot, and James Timbie, the club got off to an active start in the Fall term with the acquisition of new equipment, including a number of new boards and sets.

In the Winter term the club moved into its schedule of interscholastic matches. The first team lost its initial match at Exeter, 2-3. However, the Blue team revenged its setback a month later when, in a larger match, it defeated the Exies 5½-3½. The second team competed with Andover High School and Brooks School, the respective results being 4½-½, and 2-4.

On May 7 Andover played host to seven other schools at the Second Annual New England Secondary School Team Tournament, the first of which was held here last spring.

Peter Gamm, President;

aces

The Aces this year, under the leadership of Andy Cohen, produced some of the best sounds ever heard from a dance band on the Andover campus. The group consisted of nine members: trumpets Andy Cohen and Bob Klahn; saxes Marty Wishnatsky, Randy Graves, and Pete Shubs; Clive Cuthbertson on piano; Dave Austin on base, Web Phillips on drums; and Dennis Cross as vocalist.

The Aces brightened many a tea dance with their versatility. Sparked by fine drumming from Web Phillips and lively vocals by Dennis Cross, this hard-working group achieved a playing perfection that won them a respect rarely given a P.A. dance band.

Some of the band's favorite numbers were Glenn Miller's "In the Mood," Count Basie's "Every Tub," Woody Herman's "Apple Honey," and, of course, "Peter Gunn."

Highlights of the season included the Chorus dance with Dana Hall and the concert at Pentucket Regional High School.

In the Spring of 1960, at a Spanish Club Tea Dance, Andover first heard the "sound of the Invictas." The response was overwhelming. By the Spring Prom, the student body was convinced that the Invictas was one of the finest rock'n'roll groups Andover had ever seen.

This year the group increased its popularity. Although losing co-leader Pete McKnight, Jerry Keller headed up the group on lead guitar with Paul Kinnear, rhythm guitar; Jim Pavne, drums; Randy Graves, sax; and vocalists, Jim Field, Mac MacMurray, Bernie Boone, and Hugh Carson. To round out the group Tom Phelps was added on bass guitar with Bruce Parsons, piano, and vocalists Gary Rieveschl and Wendy John.

Appearances were made at the Abbot Mixer and numerous Tea Dances and dorm dances throughout the year. In the winter, Tom Thomas took over on rhythm guitar, and the group gave the most well-received performance of its career, on G.W. stage — displaying both the spirit of the group and the quality of their playing.

In the spring the group released an album, the first of its kind at Andover, which was met with unanimous approval. A tremendously successful group — Andover will always remember — the "sound of the Invictas."

the asia society

By the time the present student body assumes positions of social responsibility, two out of every people alive will be living in South Asia. The Asia Society was founded last winter to awaken and spread interest and understanding in this vital two-thirds of the world.

After initial preparations by the founding five man steering committee, membership was opened; and, by the end of the winter term, the Society had become the largest student organization on campus with a membership of slightly over 250 students.

Almost simultaneously with its founding the Society began work on one of its most immediate and primary goals — the introduction of an Asian Studies Course into the curriculum. The proposed course, a two-hour Senior elective, was advertised to those students able to take it the following year, twelve students decided definitely to take the course if offered and a longer list were seriously considering it. The administration, having received the request so late in the year, was unable to schedule the course for this year; but in the 1961 Catalogue the new elective — History 6, "An Introduction to the Far East" — was announced to begin the following year.

Although the establishment of History 6 was probably the most permanently significant achievement of the Society thus far, it has by no means been the Society's only activity. A pace of two meetings a week has been established. The first meeting, taking place each Sunday night, has featured either outside speakers or films. Following each of these main meetings during the ensuing week has been an informal discussion of that Sunday's topic — usually at the home of an interested faculty member. The list of films has included such greats as "Pathar Panchali," the multi award winning Indian feature film.

The Society has also sponsored several library exhibits and a Wednesday assembly with Dr. Edwin O. Reischauer, the new U. S. Ambassador to Japan. This fall the Society started publication of the "Asia Newsletter," a biweekly magazine carrying announcements, news, reprints, and articles by its own staff and other Society members. The Society has also worked successfully to expand the Library's Asian Collection. Other projects have ranged from the sponsorship of a tea dance to work in the Tokyo Art Students International Project.

The most important and lasting change made this year was not so much in what was done, but instead in how it was done. A successful "board system" has replaced the archaic and inefficient system of leaving all the work to the four officers.

The board, made up of Society members who have successfully completed a period of candidacy, assumes responsibility, under the leadership of the officers, for all the Society's activities; and only board members are eligible for election to officer ships.

In its first year the Asia Society has established itself firmly and gained tremendous student support. Over half the school joined this year — twice the membership of last spring. The Society, being very young, is still evolving. We can only hope it will continue to grow and to help Andover discover the Asian two-thirds of the world

spanish club

The 1960-61 Spanish Club, under the direction of Mr. Couch and the leadership of Don Davis, has had a most successful year. The meetings, held every other Tuesday throughout the year, proved to be very beneficial to the members in learning about the Spanish-speaking world, while at the same time they provided good entertainment.

In the fall term a tea dance was held in Graham House at which Mexican food was served. Of particular interest also during the term was a lecture presented by Chico deSola on Castro's influence in the South American countries.

Alex Walling began the winter term with a talk on Colombia. Further lectures by Elias Atri, Chico deSola, and Jorge Gonzales dealt with San Salvador, Mexico, and Puerto Rico. A movie, "La Virgen de Guadalupe" was shown at Abbot Academy and the members were invited to eat at Abbot beforehand. There was also a discussion on the Latin American opinion of John F. Kennedy. A second tea dance was held at the Art Gallery at the close of the term.

The spring term should prove to be equally as successful, with a movie on bullfighting and a third tea dance among the tentative activities. If so, the Spanish Club will have accomplished its purpose as one of Andover's most successful organizations.

french club

In 1961 the purpose of the French Club as expressed in its constitution was to foster interest in and understanding of the French people and thereby understanding among people in general. To this end the constitution required all members to be fluent in French and to speak only French at meetings.

To carry out this constitutional program, the officers, Duncan Bremer, President, Peter Winship, Vice-President, Paul Elkin, Secretary, and Jim Rubin, Treasurer, together with M. Bauer, the groups faculty advisor, arranged a vigorous program. It included two full length movies and many shorter movies. Lectures, given by students, faculty members, and guest speakers such as the French Consul General in Boston, shed more light on the French situation.

For personal contact with French customs, refreshments at meetings conformed to French taste: cheeses, pates and pastries. As examples of French athletic interests, the club held traditional Spanish-French Club soccer game and a tournament in another favorite French sport, boules. In other areas the Club procured samples of French books, magazines, and newspapers, and convinced the library to take a subscription to Top, a new magazine for French youth. In order to make this whole program more effective and to involve more members actively, the Club instituted a Board and a newsletter, le Cercle. These devices were a big reason for the successful year enjoyed by the club.

The official history of WPAA, or, Radio Free Andover, is still quite brief, for the station had to wait until the beginning of this year's spring term before a Faculty vote made it an official part of the school. The radio station is the result of a year of concerted effort on the part of a group of this year's Seniors. It all began back in the fall of 1959 when Jim Barker and Bill Cummings, then Uppers, began recruiting followers for the cause of the P.A. radio station. The research and experimentation carried on by the radio station backers finally culminated at the end of the fall term of 1960 when a lengthy report on the possibilities of radio at Andover was presented to Headmaster Kemper.

Victory for the group came on April 25, 1961, when the Faculty voted approval of the radio station report. On the afternoon of May 7, WPAA broadcast its first day of programs.

At the end of the 60-61 school year, WPAA completed its first fifty hours of broadcasting. WPAA's program policy as established by the station's first director of operations, Clive Cuthbertson, is reminiscent of radio ten years ago. That is, the heaviest accent is on the spoken word. In fact, the first program to be broadcast was a student-produced version of "The Tragical Hysterie of Benner House," a student play from The Mirror. Still, for those grown accustomed to music on the radio, popular and classical disc jockey programs worked their way into almost half of WPAA's air time.

Sporting conservative blue membership cards, the Russian Club began its first full year this September under the leadership of Upper Pete Formanek, who was chairman last winter when the organization was formed. The club offered its members, many of whom were studying Russian under the faculty advisor Mr. Lane, frequent "top-notch" opportunities to enhance their overall knowledge and understanding of the history, culture, and people of the Soviet Union.

At the opening fall meeting in George Washington Hall, the officers presented a fascinating travel film, "This is Russia." The movie, enthusiastically received by members and guests alike, emphasized the interest and importance of political institutions and historical shrines in the U.S.S.R.

One of the highlights of the year came on February 1, when twenty-five club members lunched with Hosh Lecturer Dr. Philip E. Mosely, a chief advisor to President Kennedy on Soviet affairs.

A club would not consider itself established unless it held a tea dance. Vice President Paul Kalkstein headed the committee which managed the Russian Club's affair on February 4. Although hampered by a severe snowstorm which caused havoc with the transportation facilities, the dance itself was handled smoothly. Fifty couples danced to the music of the renowned Bill Burby. Further entertainment was provided by the Invictas and the 8 'n 1.

design club

Work in progress.

The club began the year with a slide lecture by Mr. Haynes, and continued informally on Wednesdays, Saturdays, and Sundays throughout the fall and part of the winter. Steve Lemkin attempted to turn a three foot square canvas into a work of modern art. Bill Donnell was usually in the studio, pen in hand, working out ideas for the next issue of the Mirror. He also managed to cover the paper-topped tables with his intricate doodles and caricatures of faculty and seniors. Often Eric Heyworth and club president Stuart Wrede joined Bill to work on the Mirror layout. Gary Rieveschl was there too along with some of his favorite cartoon characters. Loel Slotnikoff apparently lived in the art studio for he kept up a continuous flow of realistic and semi abstract paintings.

In the middle of the winter term, the club inaugurated its Friday evening sessions. The members rotated serving as models until Miss Constant was commissioned for the job. The highlight of the years activities was the exhibit held during the first week in June.

rifle club

Under the faculty supervision of Mr. Merriam and Mr. Roehrig, the Rifle Club had one of the most active years in its history. The officers for the '60-'61 season were: Pete Vermeil, President; E. Gib Lanpher, Vice President; M. C. Francisco, Secretary, G. V. Hanna, Treasurer; and P. Willing, Executive Officer. After a turnout of seventy members, the range was open most of the year for shooting N.R.A. Postal Matches, and many of the returnees from the previous season were working on Expert or Distinguished ranking.

The team participated in six shoulder-to-shoulder matches in the winter season, losing the first two to Gloucester High ROTC and Tabor Academy. After this slow start the team came back in a return match with Gloucester to beat that team for the first time in the history of the club, 910-906. Next in line was the St. Pauls School squad which bowed 903-792. The New England Prep School Rifle League Tournament followed in which the team compiled 912 points to top Tabor, Exeter, S.P.S., and Belmont H. S. in that order. This was the second New England Prep School title ever won by the club, the first coming in '54. The last match of the season was away at Exeter from which the team brought back a victory and a record high for the club of points scored in a single match, 925-872. High man for the season was Captain Pete Vermeil with a 184 average, followed by E. Gib Lanpher with a 182, and Jim Blair with a 180.

Tuesday, September twentieth, we preps arrived. Our jackets were buttoned, our hair brushed, our ties clasped. We were young, eager, hopeful. By the evening of the twenty-first, we looked as though we had been through a nightmare. Our jackets were flung open; our hair uncombed; our ties were loose. We were Andover men.

The cause of the transition was obvious. What could have shown us the innermost recesses of Paul Revere? What could have shown us Andover bed-making techniques? We had been prepped. Despite the absence of the traditional Saturday prep-night, our introduction to Phillips Academy and its Senior Class was as enlightening and miserable as ever.

abbot mixer

The annual Abbot-Andover mixer was held on October 8 at Abbot Academy. After a light supper, the couples proceeded to the auditorium where they were greeted by the Aces and P.A. stags.

The Aces, led by Andy Cohen, with their soloist, Dennis Cross, provided most of the evening's music. The other musical groups which added variety to the affair were the 8'n 1; its Abbot counterpart, the Afterthoughts; and the Invictas, Jim Payne's rock 'n roll combo. The Invictas made a very noisy but impressive debut with such numbers as "High Blood Pressure", and "Wild Weekend."

At 10.00 P.M., the crowded dance broke up at the end of a generally enjoyable evening, and the way was now paved for many more enjoyable evenings with the girls from behind the iron gate.

andover-exeter weekend

When the school gathered for the traditional Friday Night rally at the steps of Samuel Phillips, it appeared this would indeed be another victory year. From Coach Sarota's opening, encouraging speech, through the parade of amusing banners, to the spectacular burning "A", optimism filled the air.

The next day, despite rumors of a weak team, the Exeter eleven proved to be quite powerful and the Blue found themselves coming from behind to manage an 18-18 draw.

With no excitement of a victory bonfire to look forward to, the dinners at the Commons seemed unusually quiet.

Let them charge us with our failures and do better in their turn. But let them not turn aside from what they have to do, nor think that criticism excuses inaction. Let them have hope, and virtue, and let them believe in mankind and its future for there is good as well as evil, and the man who tries to work for the good, believing in its eventual victory, while he may suffer setback and even disaster will never know defeat.
